TWISTERS HIT U.S. MIDWEST

CHICAGO (AP)—A turbulent storm raked the Midwest with damaging and heavy rains today after spawning more than a score of tornadoes which smashed paths of destruction throughout Missouri and Arkansas. One woman was killed and at least 37 persons were injured Sunday.

Scout Tragedy On Mt. Brenton

A 19-year-old Rover Scout died Saturday night in a blizzard on the slopes of Mount Brenton, near Chemainus, while rescue teams in a warm shelter less than one-half mile away prepared to search for him.

Dead is Donald Anderson, 19, of Saltair, near Ladysmith, one of a three-man party which planned to spend the day in a hike to Silver Lake, near Mount Brenton.

In Chemainus General Hospital is David Thomas, 20, Chemainus, reported in poor condition today as a result of severe exposure and frostbitten feet.

Third member of the party, Robert McGregor, 18, suffered no ill effects from his ordeal.

Ironical twist to the tragedy is that the outing was being taken as part of McGregor's qualification as a Rover Scout. The other two men already were Rovers, and his sponsors on the trip.

Ski Club Members Win Praise

Sole credit for the rescue effort, conducted over a 24-hour period in winds that blew constantly at from 40 to 50 miles per hour, went to Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club, which has a lodge on Mount Brenton.

"The Sno-Birds were everywhere and did everything," said Cpl. M. G. Low of Chemainus RCMP detachment.

The ill-fated venture started Saturday when the three set off on the trip by which McGregor would prove himself as a Rover. Their equipment was reported as good, but they had only two pairs of snowshoes between the three of them, and snow proved deep with no crust.

By Saturday afternoon they ran into the full force of a blinding blizzard, which dumped 4½ feet of snow on the area, dropped temperatures below freezing, and stung them with 50-mile winds.

McGregor said after the rescue that when the temperature dropped they decided to try for the Sno-Birds lodge about three miles away. They all knew it well from their experience on previous hikes, he said.

"Dave was without snowshoes, so Don decided to try for the lodge himself. After he left us Dave and I continued on. The snow was so deep Dave couldn't continue, so he decided to build a shelter while I went after Don.

'The Wind Was Just Murder'

"When I found him he was tired. I decided to go ahead at a fast rate to get to the lodge before nightfall. He said 'Okay' and agreed to follow at his own speed. The wind was just murder with gusts up to 65 miles an hour.

"One of his snowshoes had fallen off when they found him just 300 yards below the lodge. He had fallen asleep. I told him not to. I warned him to keep moving.

"If he had just looked up, he would have seen the lodge lights and he could have called for help.

"Rescuers attempted to revive him, but couldn't. 'I felt just terrible.'

First the 25 Sno-Birds at the lodge for the weekend knew of the tragedy was when McGregor arrived there exhausted at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

Anton 'Toni' Lamprecht, 35, of 5003 Prospect Lake Road, who grew up in Austria and has lived here nine years, said it was 30 minutes before McGregor was able to tell them what had happened.

"He was exhausted and delirious," he said. "Finally he was able to explain to me where Anderson was, and that there was a third man on the trail too."

"When we knew where to go, Manfred Schil, Tony Sayle, Bill Verchere, Brian Saunders, Jack McLellan, a fellow called 'Frank' from Qualicum, and myself set out on our skis.

"I think Anderson was gone when we found him. It is hard to tell—you find someone, you try to revive him, and you think he has a chance. You think you hear him breathing. We put him on a toboggan and took him to the lodge, but I think now he was gone when we first got to him."

Relentless Assault by a Sea of Fury

and police erected barricades to divert traffic over safer routes. Clover Point, from which this photo was taken, was jammed with traffic during the afternoon as motorists went sightseeing.

74 mph Winds Deliver Jarring One-Two Punch

By JOHN MIKA

Southern Vancouver Island was stunned Sunday by a furious windstorm that battered the coast with a right cross-left hook combination.

Wind gusts hit up to 74 miles per hour from the south-east during the morning and up to 71 mph from the south-west in the afternoon.

As the weather office predicted a second furious round was coming up, residents and officials reported:

● The "worst" trouble-plagued period in 10 years for B.C. Electric repair crews;

● Some 300 trouble calls being cleaned up by B.C. Telephone Company workmen after five trunk cables were restored to service;

● A 175-foot-long concrete block wall smashed by a powerful gust;

● Beachcombing banned at Cadboro Bay where about 400 logs piled up after breaking away from a log boom;

● A 10,000-ton freighter narrowly missed smashing into the Ogden Point docks as heavy seas broke all its mooring lines;

● A tree squashed a vacant car and others toppled over on to a house roof;

● Barricades were used to block off the Ross Bay stretch of Dallas Road as tons of water vaulted the sea wall to flood the pavement.

Another Storm Expected Tonight

"We're between storms today," said weatherman William Mackie. "The next storm will be much the same with the winds starting to rise tonight."

He predicted southeast winds averaging 35 to 40 m.p.h. and gusting overnight and Tuesday morning followed by southwest winds averaging 40 to 45 m.p.h. in the afternoon.

A B.C. Electric official said Sunday was the worst experienced by the company in 10 years.

Trouble calls began pouring in at 9 a.m. from the Cordova Bay, Gordon Head, Albert

Head, Telegraph Bay and Prospect Lake areas and city points too.

All available men were sent out. Most problems were solved by 4 p.m. when the wind shifted and a second onslaught hit power wires.

Trouble calls then began pouring in from the Metchosin, Sooke, Langford, Colwood and Finlayson Arm areas as brittle tree branches broke and fell by the hundreds.

The BCE switchboard was swamped from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. as primary and secondary power circuits were broken.

A B.C. Telephone official said seven extra men were out helping Monday crews clean up a backlog of 300 trouble calls this morning.

Five main cables were repaired — after breaks lasting up to 36 hours — in the Oak Bay, Saanich and city exchange areas.

About 400 logs were washed up on the beach when 15 sections of a 75-section log boom broke away in Cadboro Bay. B.C. forestry service an-

MOBUTU TROOPS GRAB LUMUMBIST FORCES

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian radio reported troops of Gen. Joseph Mobutu captured three platoons of the Lumumbist army today in Ikela and Mondombe, near the border of Oriental province.

The radio said one platoon was disarmed in Mondombe. Two were captured in Ikela, last stronghold, on the road to Stanleyville, capital of the Lumumbist-controlled Oriental province.

Mondombe and Ikela, although in Equator province, were occupied by Lumumbist troops.

Mobutu and Lumumbist Gen. Victor Lundula were reported to have been seeking a cease-fire. Lundula is in Kindu, Kivu province.

Wild Congolese Make Nuns Strip

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Nuns were stripped and one American missionary girl was raped by Congolese soldiers on the rampage in the rebel province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

UN Malayan patrols are pushing out from Kindu, trying to reach isolated villages where whites are at the mercy of the Congolese soldiers.

"We've got to reach all these people," said a UN official. "We have reason to believe that in many cases it is a matter of life or death."

Six Belgians and four other whites, believed to be Portuguese, were flown here from Kivu Sunday. All were badly beaten, the UN spokesman said. They told of daily beatings in the streets, pillaging and threats of execution.

One report said an American missionary girl was beaten and raped by four Congolese soldiers and told she will not be allowed to leave Kivu.

A nun reaching Kindu from a mission station at Kasongo told of 48 hours of terror, rape and bestiality soon after the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba last month. The nun said nine sisters from the mission were bundled into trucks and carted off to the local jail.

A 75-year-old nun said she was thrown out of the truck and had her arms broken and her shoulder dislocated. She has reached Leopoldville.

In a prison courtyard, the nuns were made to dance barefoot on stones and gravel, singing hymns to Lumumba. Then they were locked up in a room for the night with three Congolese soldiers. They were made to lie on the ground and strip off their clothes.

"They did not rape us but they did things so disgusting to our poor bodies that we dare not speak of them, much less write of them," one nun said.

Two other white women also were at the same prison and throughout the night their cries could be heard by the nuns.

A priest identified as Father Gerry of the White Fathers was beaten from 5 p.m. until 2 o'clock the next morning.

The next morning the nuns were freed and allowed back to their mission stations.

Boy, 14, Dies After Tumble

NELSON (CP)—A 14-year-old Castlegar boy died in hospital at Trail late Saturday night as the result of injuries received Saturday afternoon from a 45-foot fall while climbing Lion's Head Rock at Mount Robson, 30 miles west of here.

Gordon Kokandovitch, one of four Castlegar youths who set out to climb the mountain, lost his footing on the cliff-side then tumbled 45 feet to come to rest near a tree.

The four boys were climbing in pairs. Kenneth Healey, 10, said a rock fell from above and hit Gordon, knocking him off balance.

The injured boy was taken to Castlegar and district hospital then transferred to the Trail Tadanac hospital where he died.

Caldough Loses Bid

VANCOUVER (CP)—An application by George Caldough today to have bail of $75,000 reduced was refused by Magistrate Oscar Orr. Caldough was returned here more than a week ago from Britain to face charges of fraud involving about $250,000.

The four boys were climbing in pairs. Kenneth Healey, 10, said a rock fell from above and hit Gordon, knocking him off balance.

The injured boy was taken to Castlegar and district hospital then transferred to the Trail Tadanac hospital where he died.

Moroccans Kidnap 11 Oil Technicians

MADRID (UPI)—A rebel Moroccan band kidnaped 11 oil technicians, including four Americans, and looted their joint American-Spanish oil camp in the Spanish Sahara Sunday, informed Spanish sources said today.

Those kidnaped included four Britons or Canadians and three Spaniards. Their names were not immediately announced.

The sources said the attack ers came from Southern Morocco, only eight miles from the camp of the Union Oil company and its Spanish affiliate Compania Iberica De Petroleos.

The camp is known as "Bloc Number One" and lies just inside the northern border of the Spanish Sahara. The area lies between Morocco and Mauritania, opposite the Canary Islands on the West African coast.

Spy Trial Under Way In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Britain charged today at the opening of the most sensational spy case in a decade that an espionage ring stole key naval secrets and sent them by short wave radio to Moscow.

The five accused pleaded innocent. Two of the defendants were Peter John Kroger, 50, a book seller and owner of a shabby cottage in suburban Ruislip which the prosecution said served as the transmission centre, and his wife, Helen, 47.

The Crown moved swiftly against the five who were brought before the bar of justice at London's Old Bailey court.

GREATER VICTORIA HAILS CHAMPION SMOKE EATERS

See Page 8

Greater Victoria's civic chiefs wired congratulations to Trail today hailing the world hockey championship victory won by Trail Smoke Eaters Sunday.

The wire, addressed to Trail Mayor L. A. Read, said:

"Hearty congratulations from the people of Greater Victoria on the splendid victory of the Trail hockey team."

It was signed by Mayor Percy Scurrell, Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

More than 300 fans Sunday afternoon held a special meeting in Trail to prepare a jubilant welcome home for their team.

The Smoke Eaters downed Russia 5-1 in Geneva to take the title, the second time Trail has won the international hockey title.

Among the first acts of a special committee formed to set welcome plans in motion was to invite Premier W. A. C. Bennett to officially welcome the Smoke Eaters.

Meanwhile, the committee also asked general manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens to apologize for remarks made a week ago on a television program that Trail had no chance whatsoever of winning the world title.

WILLIAM JOHNSON
... honestly rewarded

(Times News Services)

LOS ANGELES — An unemployed Negro handyman who returned $240,000 he found on a street today studied offers of a job for himself and a college scholarship for his son.

The offers came from Brink's, Inc., which almost lost the money when a canvas bag containing that amount fell from a company truck.

Brink's Saturday sent a car to the modest home of janitor Douglas William Johnson, 50, and drove him to its local office, where he received the offers.

The spokesman said Johnson was offered a $90 a week job as a guard—starting just like everybody else with a chance to work his way up. The company also offered to pay college tuition for his son Richard, 16, oldest of the Johnsons' three children.

Until the Brink's offer, the only reward Johnson had received had been a bottle of champagne—for appearing on a TV news program.

DAR-ESS-SALAA, Tanganyika — The Canadian Salvation Army major put down his silver trumpet, looked at the sea of attentive faces in Keriakoo marketplace, and opened his Bible to preach on the Eighth Commandment — "Thou shalt not steal."

But when Maj. Charles Stewart, of Chatham, Ont., finished his exhortation and bent to pick up his instrument, it had gone.

Police said today they are looking for the thief—and the trumpet, worth $300.

LITTLETON, Colo. — The radio-controlled door on Kermit C. Axson's garage works fine, just fine, during the daytime.

It's only at night that it does funny things. Like going up and down like a yo-yo.

Axson finally determined that the door's nervous habits derived from night testing of intercontinental ballistic missiles at the Hartin Company plant a few miles away. When engineers there test dry-run missiles, they sometimes use frequencies tuned to that of Axson's garage door.

Now Axson has only one worry: What happens to the missiles when he presses the garage door button?

OSLO — The 37-year-old King of Norway raced six miles on skis Saturday against the president of Finland, three years his senior. The king puffed across the finish line a ski-length ahead. King Olav V and President Kekkonen made the race to open the 31-mile cross-country event of the Holmenkollen ski games.

LONDON — Movie star Nancy Kwan has offered to teach British soldiers Chinese and chopsticks, but the army has turned her down.

"Miss Kwan is too beautiful," said Capt. Anthony Hare of the star of the movie version of The World of Suzie Wong.

To prepare the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry Regiment for duty in Malaya, Hare had the idea of after-hours instruction in the Chinese language, the use of chopsticks, and other local customs. He advertised for a teacher and, to insure good attendance at the classes, specified she must be beautiful.

Miss Kwan—or could it have been her press agent?—cabled Hare from Hollywood:

"Please consider me a candidate as Chinese teacher for Yorkshire Light Infantry Regiment. I am fluent in Chinese, fabulous with chopsticks and fond of uniforms."

Said Capt. Hare: "I think that Miss Kwan—if she is serious about the whole thing—would be too much of a distraction."

Hare said he had already engaged a Chinese woman teacher anyway.

74-MPH WINDS

nounced beachcombing will be prohibited to residents for the next 10 days from Cadboro Point to Gonzales Point to give the owners a chance to retrieve the logs.

City, Saanich and Oak Bay municipal engineers reported no serious damage was caused although several trees were knocked over.

A car owned by Dr. Jack Morrison, 3530 Cardiff Place, was crushed by a falling tree and roof damage was caused to a house owned by William Fife, 962 Dingley Dell, when another was blown over in the Gorge waterway area.

Esquimalt suffered spectacular rather than serious damage during Sunday's gales.

A newly constructed wall on the site of the municipality's sports arena, 175 feet long and seven feet high, was totally demolished by a strong gust of wind about 11.30 a.m.

The wall was to enclose the ice rink's walk-way and was not supporting anything nor was it supported by anything. Just built of six-inch concrete blocks, its cement had not had a chance to harden.

The damage is wholly covered by insurance, municipal engineer John Graham said, and work on the $400,000 arena project will not be held up. He estimated the wall will be rebuilt in three or four days.

Motorist Trapped

In the afternoon a falling tree blocked the entrance to Gorge Park, trapping a motorist who was inside the park on a Sunday afternoon drive. Police sawed through the tree allowing the driver to take his car out of the park again.

The Port Angeles ferry Coho had to almost double its normal 19-mile run to the Inner Harbor as it crossed the strait at an angle, turning to beat into the gale off Trial Island.

No Problems

But Trans-Canada Airlines and B.C. government ferries officials reported no problems were caused by the storm.

Clover Point and many waterfront view spots were jammed with motorists and pedestrians who flocked to the shoreline to see the huge breakers.

Members of the Reef Divers, a skin-diving club, used surfboards to ride the crests of the waves off Willows Beach.

Started Early

The weather office said the winds began rising about 4 a.m. Sunday from the south-east. By 7 a.m. they had reached an average speed of 30 m.p.h. and between 8 a.m. and noon they averaged about 45 m.p.h. Gusts hit 70 m.p.h. at 10 a.m. and 74 a half hour later.

The winds dropped off to about 10 m.p.h. by 3 p.m. but 15 minutes later there was a shift to the southwest and they began rising again, hitting an average of 45 to 50 m.p.h. for about two hours and gusts up to the 70-m.p.h. speed. Slight precipitation, .04 ins., was recorded here but a quarter of an inch of rain fell at Patricia Bay airport.

Homes Run Dry As Tank Bursts

ALBERNI (CP)—A 150,000-gallon capacity tank burst and left homes in the higher level of Alberni without water Saturday.

City superintendent Robert Waugh said the tank was empty when it was discovered that the line between the open reservoir and the elevated tank had broken.

'Great Debate' Off

WED AT 79

Marriage of Spanish-born artist Pablo Picasso, 79, and his model-companion, Jacqueline Rocque, in France 10 days ago was disclosed today. His first wife died in 1955. They had been separated 20 years.

Demonstrators Freed

DUNOON, Scotland (Reuters)—Charges against six anti-nuclear demonstrators who tried to board the United States Polaris submarine depot ship Proteus when it arrived in nearby Holy Loch March 3 have been dropped. It was learned today. Police were instructed to return the men's boats to them.

Marooned on Lift

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—A seized motor-marooned 60 persons on the Hollyburn chair lift for more than an hour Sunday. Bob McClelland, manager of the chair lift, said "the motor arced when the emergency brake was yanked above, with the motor still running."

TORONTO (CP)—National Liberal leader Lester B. He told a press conference the whole question of South Africa's membership, and her necessity of recognizing basic human rights in the Commonwealth, and the writing of a Commonwealth bill of rights, London, may be put off for final decision until a later date. # Congo Pact To End Chaos?

Leaders End Malagasy Summit Meet; Kasavubu to Head New Federation

TANANARIVE (AP) — Political leaders of The Congo have agreed to replace their centrally-controlled parliamentary government by a confederation of semi-independent states, headed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The action of the political conference here in the Malagasy Republic, formerly Madagascar, which ended Sunday, raised hopes in Leopoldville that the way has been opened to an eventual end to the chaos and warfare that has plagued The Congo since it won its independence from Belgium last June 30.

The conference's final communiqué made no mention of Antoine Gizenga, whose Lumumbist forces control the eastern provinces of Oriental and Kivu. He was the only major leader absent from the talks.

Kasavubu told reporters that if Gizenga refuses to go along with the conference, decision, he will be declared an outlaw. Presumably military measures would then be taken to supplant him.)

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ, termed the conference decisions a colonialist plan to break up The Congo. "The Congo is a single country and it has one legal government," said Pravda.

(The Soviet bloc recognizes Gizenga's regime as the only legal Congo government.)

Kasavubu, only Congolese authority recognized by the United Nations, messaged UN headquarters in New York to ask for recognition of the new setup and continued economic assistance. He said a partial union has been achieved and the danger of civil war averted.

'Go Away and Leave Us in Peace'

His cable to assembly President Frederick H. Boland and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld reiterated the conference's earlier demand for the cancellation of the Security Council resolution of February 21, which authorized UN troops in The Congo to use force if necessary to prevent civil war.

Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga province and the man who dominated the week-long talks, declared:

"We have settled our affairs among ourselves and now it is necessary that both the East and West leave us in peace."

The conference agreed on a two-level central co-ordinating regime to replace Kasavubu's central government in Leopoldville. Leopoldville is to become a neutral federal district.

Crash Kills Woman

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Eleanor Green became Vancouver's 10th traffic victim of the year Saturday night when her car mounted the curb and struck a power pole after being in collision with another vehicle at a midtown intersection. She was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Laos Reds Score 'Neutrality' Policy

CP from Reuters-AP VIENTIANE, Laos — The pro-Communist Pathet Lao radio denounced the right-wing Laotian government Sunday for its agreement Friday with exiled premier Prince Souvanna Phouma to seek a policy of "strict neutrality" for this southeast Asian country.

The radio, speaking for the leftist forces in Laos, said deputy premier Gen. Phoumi Nosovan, strongman of the government, had perpetrated a "vicious fraud" by signing the agreement in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. It described the agreement as a "sham policy of neutrality aimed at torpedoing the true policy of peace and neutrality."

K INTERESTED IN COLD WAR NEGOTIATIONS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is reported to be interested in continuing discussions on main cold war issues at the diplomatic level.

Informants said Sunday that Khrushchev expressed this interest during a four-hour meeting Thursday at Novosibirsk with Llewellyn Thompson, United States ambassador to Moscow.

These sources said the prospects are that follow-up talks will be held between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, now in New York for the United Nations General Assembly session.

'Up to U.S. If Peace For Laos'

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Ex-premier Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos said today peace in his war-torn homeland depends on whether the U.S. government will truly support real neutralism in Laos.

Souvanna, who agreed last week with a representative of the pro-Western government of Prince Boun Oum to try to secure a truce between leftist rebels and the government forces, was critical of U.S. policy toward Laos in recent years.

He said the United States had a chance to support neutralism for several years in Laos and again last year when he was premier. Instead the U.S. was cool to Souvanna's efforts to form a coalition of the rebels and nationalist forces.

President Kennedy, in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev last week, asked him to co-operate in making Laos a completely neutral nation.

Canada-U.S. Talks Key to Future Harmony

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the United States opened major economic talks today in a conference of ministers that may go a long way in establishing the tone of harmony between the two countries under the administration of President John Kennedy.

Policies contemplated by both governments in the complex fields of tariff and taxes, surplus food disposal and aid to hard-pressed domestic industries will be explored in a two-day session. Finance Minister Fleming heads the Canadian group and Secretary of State Dean Rusk the U.S. group.

This will be the sixth session of the Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic affairs designed to resolve trade differences between the two countries behind closed doors before they turn into embarrassing public issues.

The first such meeting since Kennedy took office, it might give Canada an opportunity to impress its needs on the new U.S. administration before the Kennedy team has completely formulated its trade policy.

On the other hand, the U.S. is anxious to be reassured that Canada is not embarking on any scheme which will hurt American exports.

More trade flows across the Canada-U.S. border than between any other two countries. Both sides are seeking harmonious relations in the light of stiffening world competition, particularly in the six-country Common Market of Europe. American sources have let it be known that they feel Canada was not always treated too well by the previous U.S. administration.

The biggest American concern is over the "class or kind" tariff revision proposed by the Canadian government and now the subject of parliamentary debate. But Revenue Minister George Nowlan, brought into the talks for the first time, says the United States has no reason to be concerned.

"The proposals are not designed to discriminate against American goods," he said in an interview. American concern arose partly because the opposition in the Canadian Parliament had chosen to make a "political football" of the proposals, he said.

LEEWAY SEEN

The proposals would give the government more leeway in determining the kind of goods that can be imported under the existing low tariff rates on goods produced in substantial amounts in Canada. Canada, on her part, is concerned over United States cotton subsidies and their use of export textiles at less than domestic prices. Canadian manufacturers say American textiles are eating into Canadian markets.

Small Steps Forward

ONE OF THE MOST HOPEFUL fields of contact between East and West has been in the continuing negotiations on control of nuclear tests. A fairly broad area of agreement has quietly been reached on this vital topic, and both the United States and Russia have indicated that they are prepared to concede a little in the matter of test inspections in order to achieve some workable compromise.

The peoples of the world are watching developments with obvious concern. Quite apart from the wider issue of nuclear disarmament is the fear that continued nuclear tests can lead to eventual pollution of the atmosphere and surface of the earth with lethal radioactivity.

Adjournment of the last talks in December found tentative agreement on a number of previously deadlocked issues. These include methods of detecting test explosions, the composition of inspection teams, the freedom of inspectors to move about a country, and a temporary ban on underground tests involving less than the equivalent of 19 kilotons of TNT.

In resuming the talks carried on by the previous administration, Mr. Kennedy is believed ready to offer to reduce the American demand for 20 inspection visits a year in Russia. This may now be reduced to 17. Russia, on the other hand, had insisted that three visits should be the maximum. This, according to reports, may be subject to upward revision, with perhaps a dozen as the eventual Soviet figure.

Obviously there would still remain a sizeable gap for negotiation.

But the question of inspections has been a key factor in the talks so far, and the suggested willingness of both sides to compromise raises hopes that further agreement may be possible.

The question of a ban on nuclear tests is, of course, a prelude to the larger question of a ban on nuclear arms. But until tests are universally prohibited, and some foolproof method of supervision through detection of violations is perfected, there is little prospect of nuclear disarmament. That is why the current small gains are viewed so hopefully in Washington and London.

At the present time, both Russia and the United States are observing a voluntary moratorium on nuclear tests. While this continues the chances of successful negotiation are enhanced. But there is pressure in both countries to terminate the period of abstention—to set a date after which, if full agreement cannot be achieved, nuclear tests will be resumed.

That would be a tragically serious setback after so much progress has been made.

The test ban talks do not, of course, affect the main question of nuclear armament at this time. Possession of nuclear bombs as a deterrent to war is still the prime factor in United States policy. Many safeguards must be guaranteed before that policy can safely be abandoned. But abandonment of further bomb tests is a preliminary step toward that end. At the moment the step, though faltering, is in the right direction.

The Monster's Hypnotic Eye

IF DR. ANDREW STEWART, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, is right, a lot of Canadians have reached the ideal set out in an old poem for children: "I wish I was a little rock, a-sitting on a hill, doing nothin' all day long except just sitting still."

Dr. Stewart phrases it differently: "Some of the TV audiences are not enjoying what they see but stay with it because they do not know what else to do."

The hypnotism - cum - inertia of the television addict is familiar to every home possessing a "one-eyed monster." The viewer reclines in his easy chair looking at a program that doesn't interest him. He is almost moved to leave his chair and switch off the set, but he waits, justifying his inaction on the grounds that something better will probably come on in a few minutes.

By an amalgam of cause and effect, television frequently produces or nurtures boredom. But the boredom is inherent, even without the TV, and reflects itself in a multitude of ways throughout modern society, from the exploits of juvenile delinquents to the tired mental vegetation of the adult.

The cure, Dr. Stewart might point out, may be less an improvement in television programs than an injection of energy, mental and physical, into the patient. There is an abundance of good programs on television, even if they represent only a fraction of a day's output—enough to make the medium well worthwhile if it is used properly.

The problem arises from improper use of the instrument and the disinclination of the viewer to rise from his hip-pocket posture to do something constructive. If he makes the effort to get himself under way, to hoist his sails as it were, he can escape boredom very quickly.

A Choice of Roads

AS IT ENTERS ITS SECOND year, the pro-Western government of Premier Hayato Ikeda faces mounting economic problems in Japan's relations with the United States and China.

The dollar-saving measures being implemented by Washington will undoubtedly have considerable effect on Japan's economy. One estimate places Japan's trade loss at as much as $60 millions in the coming year as a result of Washington's "buy-American" trend.

This prospect has given strength to those Japanese who urge a re-opening of trade relations with Red China, suspended since a diplomatic incident in 1958. The advantages of friendly relations were recognized by Premier Ikeda in his policy speech of January, and he coupled Soviet Russia with Red China in seeking improvement.

Trade with Red China, however, he saw as a matter affecting more than Peking and Tokyo. With a thought to United States relations, he held that a "general readjustment" in the East-West situation would have to precede any trade arrangement.

Premier Ikeda has set himself the goal of doubling Japan's national income within ten years. This will take more than internal effort. It will require enlarged markets for Japanese products throughout the world. At the moment these markets are restricted.

Canada, for instance, which sells more to Japan each year than it buys, has forced "voluntary" quotas on Japanese exporters. The United States market is restricted by high tariffs. Obviously a new approach to Japanese imports will have to be made by many countries if Japan is to double its income.

That situation presents an obvious invitation to the Communist world, which could absorb vast quantities of Japanese products. The price in this event might be in more than trade, for most Communist trade arrangements are the prelude to closer "cultural" ties—a concept which can have broad political applications.

Another point of consideration for the West is the question of encouraging the continuation of a pro-Western administration in Japan. An economic pinch could quickly lead to the overthrow of the Ikeda government, and its successor might be far more disposed toward cultivating close relations with the Communist giants on the Asian mainland.

'This Here Is a Subsidiary'

ONE OF THE OBSTACLES TO public understanding of finance is the apparent inability of top-ranking bankers to communicate with the man in the street. The vocabularies of the two are distinct. Now comes a hope of a lingua franca mutually understood—or misunderstood.

Mr. Casey Stengel, who does wonderful things with baseball clubs and language, is vice-president of a bank in Los Angeles.

"We're a national bank," explains Mr. Stengel. "And this is what you call a subsidiary."

"A subsidiary?" asked his interviewer, more familiar with the orthodox spelling and pronunciation of "subsidiary" with an "i."

"That is correct," said Casey.

"Our main office is over in Glendale. This here is a subsidiary—a branch."

Mr. Stengel treats syntax, agreement and such other foibles of the grammarians with a tolerant contempt. Even when he was orating on baseball in another joyous day, he baffled conventional listeners who expect words to mean something. But the team he handled got the message well enough to pile up league and world championships.

He is now the vice-president of a bank, describing his work in words that don't make too much sense. But, by sound alone, to the average layman, they could be as intelligible as—perhaps more intelligible than—the expertise of the banker and the economist.

War Paint

THE LETTER-DROP

By B. A. TOBIN

File in Furnace and Forget

MODERN efficiency in producing printed matter has one disadvantage. People keep sending it to you to read.

In no previous era has mankind had to cope with the flood of reading material that fills the world—especially its small boxes—today. Pamphlets, circulars, forms, brochures, throw-aways, booklets, "presentations" name them and you can have them, free. How many of them are read? Obviously some of them must be read or the producers would stop producing them. But a tremendous tonnage per year must go unread, unopened and not unfolded, into the waste baskets of North America.

What do the readers get? What do the non-readers miss?

In a general way, you might say very little. So much of the information offered is wrong or designed to create a false impression. So many of the arguments presented are careful to give only one side. So few of the claims can be fully substantiated. So little of the material is rich in anything but the hopeful hope of the mailer.

Much-Too-Much

The same abundance afflicts the correspondence of the world. For every personal letter from a friend, which you would really like to receive, there are hundreds of so-called "business" letters, or informative letters, or notifications, or announcements, or reminders, or—well what was your harvest during the past week or so?

Surely some of these could be avoided, if only to help save the forests. A news item from London seems to set the tone of the whole thing.

For eight months a young trainee in an office placed letters in a receptacle in the wall, for filing. But it was eventually discovered that the chute did not lead to the filing department, it led to the furnace.

Now you might think that losing some 3,000 letters from the files might be quite a blow to a business firm. But the worst blow for the firm's controller was the fact that not one of the letters was ever missed.

If filed they would merely have taken up valuable space, got in the way of other things, and probably required an extra employee to look after them.

Think what a saving that office trainee effected. The news item did not say what happened to him or her, but the obvious move by the management was not to fire the apprentice but immediately to appoint him or her to a position of responsibility—perhaps office manager, operations superintendent, or vice-president in charge of efficiency.

The incident opens up a whole new concept of what might be accomplished if the same procedure were applied to commerce and industry in general.

Out of Sight

Every office would have a large slot in the wall, into which everything for the mail bag and files would be pushed. The pusher's interest would not extend beyond the surface of the wall. Once deposited the material would be out of his hands. He would not need to know that it would likewise be out of everybody's hands—except the hands of the man down below who stuffed it into the furnace.

As time went on, tons of filing cabinets could be melted down, acres of filing space would be released for more productive use. The metal from the filing cabinets could go into typewriters to produce more letters and fumes to consume them. Stenographers, typists and furnace men could occupy the new space available.

The whole thing would be streamlined and accelerated. In any efficient firm a letter could be dictated, typed and burned within an hour or less, without the need of countrywide distribution. Each area of the country would handle its own disposal.

The advantages of the system are obvious, not the least of which would be that the householder, peering into his letter box, would be able, without pawing through a heap of waste paper, to spot the eagerly sought missive from the favorite friend travelling abroad, the much desired letter from son or daughter, or the equally welcome envelope containing a cheque.

It only needs a little organization and the whole plan could be under way.

Students Are Not Immature

When asked for his opinion of the recent demonstration by Vancouver high school students protesting certain sections of the Chant Report, Mayor Tom Alsbury of Vancouver stated that the actions of "immature" students should not be considered.

Both Mayor Alsbury and I agree that the demonstrations were the result of spontaneous hostility and the curious inertia of the human mind. But I most strongly resent the common thought that the minds of high school students are "immature."

Were a newspaper reporter to visit a high school, he would find that the students love Canada before the Queen, question the integrity of certain government officials, resent United States control of our labor unions, are enthusiastically interested in world affairs, and, as a whole, have popular, revolutionary and very often, practical beliefs. A better cross-section of a thinking society can be found nowhere.

As Our Readers See It

Hitting Academic Freedom

Recently the minister of finance gave first reading to Bill 23. It is entitled "An Act Respecting Public Bodies' Financial Information."

The Bill requires a number of public bodies to publish a financial statement each year, which is to include a number of details enumerated in the Bill. Among the bodies listed are the University of British Columbia and Victoria College. These two bodies are listed because they receive grants or advances from the provincial government.

Ever since our universities began to receive large amounts of government aid, I, along with a number of other people, have been fearful that government intervention of internal university matters would follow.

The Act does not request a reporting direct to the government, but merely the publishing of financial statements. However, it seems to me that this could be the thin edge of the wedge concerning government interference with university affairs.

I may be too sensitive in this matter, but it seems to me that the issue could be serious. If the government is satisfied that the university is doing a good job, it should not presume to dictate or regulate how this money should be spent, or in any way interfere in university affairs. It seems to me the university is only responsible to its own board of governors and senate.

I do not believe that this sort of request has been made to universities anywhere else in the Commonwealth. This regulation infringes on the academic freedom of our great universities, which should be resisted no matter how small that infringement may be.

TONY GARGRAVE, MLA.

Gas Tax

I am enclosing a copy of a letter which I have sent to some motorists who have registered a protest against the 3 cents a gallon tax increase on gasoline. I might say that many motorists would be very interested in reading the facts as stated in this letter.

BERT PRICE, MLA.
Vancouver-Buttard.

Dear Motorist:

I write in reply to the card you signed protesting the 3 cents per gallon gasoline tax increase to make sure you are aware of reasons initiating this additional tax.

First of all, I trust you agree, wear and tear on a car using paved roads is 50 per cent of what it would be on gravel or rough roads. The 3 cents per gallon gas tax is about equivalent to 1.7 cent per traveled mile for an automobile.

The Road Users Commission recommended that highway costs should be shared 1.3 by automobiles, 1.3 by trucks and 1.3 by non-road users, which means general revenue. B.C. has paved 3,832 miles of new highway and 1,152 miles of total repair of paving since 1952. Eighty-two million dollars will be spent on B.C. highways this year.

The gasoline tax was 3 cents when first applied in B.C. in 1924, increased to 5 cents in 1930, to 7 cents in 1932, 10 cents in 1947, and now to 13 cents in 1951, which, with the diesel fuel tax, should produce $38 million revenue this year. Five or six provinces collect a higher gasoline tax than B.C., but no province has such high road building costs as B.C.

In the U.S., roads are paid for from federal funds, but it is not generally known that these funds are taxed, entirely against the road user by gas and diesel tax, licence fees, rubber and retread material taxes, all of which are being substantially increased this year to maintain their highway program. The U.S. federal tax on gas is 4 cents per gallon, plus 5 cents to 7 cents in each state for a gallon which is 4.5 the size of the Imperial gallon.

The cost of education in B.C. has increased 292 per cent since 1952, welfare 134 per cent, and children's welfare 168.9 per cent, but none of these costs are in any way paid by the gasoline or diesel fuel tax. The total gas and diesel taxes and the revenue from trucks all go into road and highway construction and maintenance.

We need more provincial roads and I hope you agree that the motorist is not actually imposed upon by being asked to carry 1.3 of the road costs. The total 13 cents per gallon tax on gas, the diesel oil tax, together with truck licence and fees, in total will raise only 2.3 of the money spent on roads. Surely 1.3 of road costs is certainly sufficient to come from property and other taxes.

BERT PRICE, MLA.

Voluntary Donations

As a former canvasser for many years for the Red Cross, I write this letter to point out and emphasize that the Red Cross Constitution's Charter forbids grants from governments, to prevent political control by countries.

So it is supported only by voluntary donations and thus is completely impartial in its magnificent emergency work, helping in disasters, locally, nationally and internationally.

MRS. A. COLCLOUGH.
3123 Admirals Road.

Tax Evasion

Victoria, municipal ratepayers have seen their worst problem—provincial government evasion of municipal taxes—aired in the Legislature by MLA's Messrs. Smith and Skillings. More power to the gentlemen.

We have also seen the Premier's words in reply: "There are a great many B.C. towns that would be glad to have some government buildings. Victoria is lucky." And there is the stop wall.

Just how lucky are we Victoria taxpayers to have the provincial jobs and buildings in our midst? Four mills worth every year? It is a good question. However, I don't think it will soon get a satisfactory answer. Victoria will get a great deal shabbier for several years while the Premier has bigger fish to fry.

Are there any fruitful lines we might follow? Yes, I think there are. One is that our mayor and aldermen might show much more backbone and less passive acceptance of a real injustice.

The other is the solution offered by amalgamation of some at least of the municipalities.

Personally I believe that any degree of union at all would be distasteful to Mr. Bennett. Divide and rule is the natural course for such an astute man.

CHARLES NELLES.
503 Yates Street.

Wet-Nursing PGE

So B.C. motorists are forced to serve as wet-nurses to Premier Bennett's favorite offspring, the PGE.

Premier, finance minister, president of the PGE, chairman of the Toll Highway and Bridges Authority, the record shows this man exercising autocratic power, now assuming a dangerous aspect. No cabinet colleague or party supporter has sufficient knowledge of constitutional law, or government, to question his authority or acts. Nor has any the will to do so.

The presidents of Canadian National, CPR, and every railroad on this continent would consider himself as financially secure of the Bank of England, or Fort Knox, if he were also premier and finance minister, able to shuffle treasury and government fiscal policy, levy and disburse taxes, for the deliberate purpose of preventing insolvency of departments, corporations and enterprises under his control.

These Crown corporations were solemnly declared selfliquidating enterprises. No present or future burden on provincial taxpayers. Why have $50 millions of party bonds been issued in B.C. for the PGE, and Power Commission, and similar action forecast to keep the Toll Authority solvent?

The truth is (well hidden) that funds elsewhere were not available. Isn't that piecemeal switching of the entire load from outside investors to B.C. investors? Don't these bond issues, the entire $501 millions contingent liabilities, make money "tight" for other borrowers, other purposes?

JOHN BULLIVANT.
7204 Inverness St.

Brazil Cuts the Strings

By HENRY HOGG, from Rio de Janeiro

FOR the past half-century Brazil has been an almost automatic supporter of U.S. foreign policy. This era now appears to have ended.

Brazil has announced that at the next meeting of the UN Assembly, she will vote in favor of debating the admission of Communist China. In addition, steps have been taken to establish diplomatic relations with Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

For good measure, President Tito of Yugoslavia has been officially invited to Brazil, and President Janio Quadros, who has been in office just over a month, has granted only one foreign journalist a personal interview—the representative of the official Cuban News Agency.

All this has come as a shock to those who had assumed that Brazil would continue to follow the Washington line. At the press conference when the foreign minister, Senhor Afonso Arinos, announced the decision concerning China's entry in the UN, he corrected a reporter who asked a question about "Red China." "You mean Continental China," said the minister.

Lost No Time

President Kennedy, puzzled and not a little disturbed, lost no time in sending his envoy, Mr. Adolf Berle, Jr., to find out what was happening. Mr. Berle, a former U.S. ambassador to Brazil, likes and knows the country and visits his property near Brasilia each year. However, the Berle-Quadros meeting got nowhere and ended on a note of "We agree to disagree."

Although the United States last year took nearly 42 per cent of Brazil's total coffee exports, President Quadros is apparently determined to show the world that Brazil has reached full political maturity and intends to follow a foreign policy of neutral independence.

Whether this acute change is really profound or merely a gesture of national independence, only time will tell.

Symbolic Broom

With a broom as a symbol of his intention to clean up the nation and wipe out corruption, President Quadros has certainly kept this promise. Various commissions have been set up to investigate irregularities in government departments. Civil servants are working longer hours. The Brazilian Foreign Service has had a salary cut of 30 per cent.

He has also done much to make the public aware of the precarious financial situation. A popular move was the elimination of commercial bureau overseas which, in the majority of cases, had gone to people in reward for political favors.

Investigations into the smuggling of coffee out of the country have already exposed a smuggling ring which deprived the nation of some $100 million per year.

Dr. Quadros, with a first class record as governor of Sao Paulo, Brazil's most prosperous state, has a great challenge ahead of him. His determination for an honest administration will be the battle won. Whether he can wear his economic policy from his foreign policy remains to be seen.

Trouble in Swallowing

People write to ask why they are having trouble swallowing. Some say they can swallow fluids but are having trouble with solids. A few nervous old ladies have a curious difficulty. They chew and chew but cannot seem to make up their minds to swallow. They are like a person who is afraid to swallow a big tablet. This is a mental disease.

Alvarez

Quite a few persons, usually under 40, suffer from a spasm either in the gullet or at the cardia—the valve where the gullet joins the stomach. These spasms can be seen with the help of the x-ray. I find that many persons with such spasm seem to have inherited a tense nervous system from highly nervous ancestors. Some of the patients have to have an expert dilate the cardia with a special instrument. Then they can swallow again.

If I needed such treatment I would go to a big institution like the Mayo Clinic where I would find men who specialize in this work and hence can do it safely and expertly. Sometimes the spasm is so marked that the patient has to begin by swallowing a length of strong silk thread. Curiously, this finds its way through the tightly-closed valve. Later, the expert threads his dilator over the silk thread, and in this way slips it down through the obstructed place without poking it into the surrounding tissues.

Any person past 40 who suddenly finds himself (or herself) unable to swallow easily must hurry to an x-ray man who usually can tell quickly whether the difficulty is due to spasm or to the presence of a cancer.

The cancer can be in the esophagus (gullet) or at the cardia or in the upper part of the stomach. Unfortunately, the results of operation in these cases are often poor—the patient went to the surgeon too late. When a cancer at the cardia is interfering much with swallowing, an expert can give great relief by using the dilator.

In rare cases a man who has had a little stroke for a time will have great difficulty in swallowing. I remember also men with a cancer at the base of the tongue who could not swallow and had to take their food through a stomach tube.

Another somewhat unusual cause of difficult swallowing is a diverticulum or out-pouching of the gullet. When the pouch gets big, it fills with food and then presses on the gullet—perhaps hard enough to obstruct it. Fortunately, today, an expert chest surgeon can operate and tie off and remove the pouch.

A woman writes to ask why her doctor refuses to give her vitamins intravenously. He says that to do this adds greatly to the danger of many types of treatment. Three cheers for him! He is a man after my own heart! He is so honest that he is going to lose some practice.

Some of his patients will want to go to some faddy person who they hear is "so very thorough" that he gives all his patients their medicine in their veins.

In the first place, this is rarely necessary, and in the second place, it has its dangers. It is much safer to give a medicine by mouth. Then, if the person should be highly sensitive to it, he is much less likely to get a violent reaction and perhaps to drop dead.

There is one other objection and this is that some day when perhaps after a serious operation the patient very much needs his veins, as for a transfusion, they may be badly scarred-up by countless injections of drugs that could just as well have been given by mouth.

A mother writes in great distress saying that she has just learned that for years her son has been smoking marijuana cigarettes. She wants to know what she can do. I fear—nothing. She cannot watch her son day and night, and she cannot cure him against his will.

I learned many years ago that it is a waste of time and energy to try to cure anyone who does not much want to be helped. It is hard enough to cure a habituated person when he wants very much to get off a drug.

Usually, he has a weak will, a strong tendency—like a child—to do just what he wants to do, and then a strong tendency to blame everyone but himself for the trouble he gets into.

A woman says she suffers from so-called allergy to cold and also to heat and sunshine. I remember a motion picture I saw once of a woman who rapidly bloated when one of her hands with the forearm was put into cold water. A well-known physician who was a character and an enthusiast was always telling of the cases of cold allergy he had seen. I cannot say much about this disease because I have only a faint memory of having seen perhaps a case or two of it. Obviously, the person must be hypersensitive to a marked degree. A doctor can try to accustom the patient to increasing amounts of cold by having her bathe each day in somewhat colder water.

HOME GARDEN

It's Mealtime... and Be Generous

The wide range of lovely summer and fall flowering hardy bulbs, which can be grown here on the southern end of Vancouver Island, need feeding now as they make their early spring growth.

Hilda

The first of the large bulbs to flower is the showy fritillaria imperialis, popularly known as crown-imperial, which often displays its hanging circle of orange bells by Easter. The growth period is short, so that for established groups, plant food should be provided now while the roots are active.

A complete fertilizer, such as one having a 6-8-6 analysis, is most suitable and can be applied at the rate of a tablespoon on the soil to a large bulb. Rain will wash it in most likely at this time of year. The same fertilizer applied at the same rate (giving less to bulbs of medium or small sizes) will help put flowers into other bulbs for next year.

BENEFIT TO LILY
Many of the true lily species will benefit, especially if the bulbs have been down for some years and have not had a fall dressing of bonemeal.

Eremurus, the foxtail-lily, puts up such prodigious growth each spring that it seems to shout for a big meal to keep up its strength. With ours, I shall be generous and give two table-spoons of 6-8-6 to aid it in supporting another eight-foot flower stem this summer.

Crinum is a lovely late summer flowering bulb, somewhat resembling the hardy amaryllis but with entirely different leaf habit, and possessing a delightful perfume. Crinums are not frequently seen, but there are a few plantings in Victoria, and since they prefer to remain without disturbance in warm gardens sheltered from winds, a fall dressing of bonemeal and a spring feeding of complete fertilizer is greatly appreciated.

NEEDS PROTECTION
Two fall flowering bulbs which start their growth in February or March, according to the season, are nerines and the hardy amaryllis belladonna (sometimes called the bella-donna-lily).

The foliage of both needs protection from these strong spring gales and light frosts or the flowers will be poorer. In our garden we use short branches of evergreen stuck into the soil around the plants. These do not interfere with the air circulation and sunlight to any great extent. Since the leaves die down by mid-summer, the bulbs must be fed now while the leaves are active.

STILL REAL CANADIANS

Love for Old Land Immigrant's Right

HAMILTON (CP)—An immigrant may have a "tender attachment" to his ancestors' culture, and still be a real Canadian, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, minister of citizenship and immigration, said during the week-end.

A good Canadian is not necessarily one who speaks, dresses and thinks as his neighbor, she told the Czechoslovak National Association of Canada.

Her definition of a "good Canadian" was one who "shares with others a commanding understanding of the principles and faith in the destiny of the Canadian people."

JFK Cuts Red Tape

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy took a whack at red tape Saturday and wiped out 17 interdepartmental committees. The White House said this will save $301,375 a year, but that the primary aim was not to cut expenses, but to "clarify and pinpoint executive responsibility and consolidate governmental duties in a number of important areas."

MARXIST:

'Communism Must Change Or Lose Out'

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Adam Schaff, Poland's leading Marxist philosopher, says communism stands to lose "the struggle for the mind of man" unless its philosophy comes to grips with the problem of the human individual and his fate.

He calls for a fundamental alteration in traditional Marxist thinking, and reproaches Communist philosophers for neglecting questions concerning "the meaning of life." He said "idealistic" opponents of communism have had a monopoly on this important issue.

"An error has been committed by handing such an important and precious issue to ideological opponents by keeping silent about it and even neglecting it," he asserts.

AMAZING SHIFT

Intellectual circles in Warsaw express amazement at the shift in Schaff's approach to Marxist philosophy. A few persons predict his articles—entitled "The Fate of Man and About the Meaning of Life"—would draw criticism from orthodox Marxists in this country and abroad.

The philosopher noted that Marxism has treated the human individual's problems only as a part of society and has only applied "the laws of social development" to its deliberations on the subject. But he added:

"As long as people die and fear death, lose loved ones and fear this loss, suffer physically and morally... they will want not only to know about the stages in the changes of social formation but they will also want to understand their personal problems and to know how to act."

He offered his own solution, describing it as "socialist humanism."

'DIALECTICIAN'

"The disciple of socialist humanism is convinced that his happiness can be achieved only through the happiness of society because of the expansion of the sphere of individual development and of the possibility of satisfying the strivings of people on a social scale creates a durable basis for the realization of personal strivings."

"In the name of the love of his brother and benevolence toward all, he propagates class struggle. He propagates—though it seems a paradox—hated toward oppressors of man in the name of the love of man..."

"He is a dialectician and that is exactly why, while propagating peace, he fights."

The women's work committee of the Canadian Red Cross produced 286,736 knitted or sewn articles last year for shipment to 15 nations in need.

MINE INSPECTOR TAKES LIFE AFTER 71 DIE

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—A government mine supervisor who had inspected a coal mine just before a fire Thursday killed 71 miners committed suicide Sunday, police reported. They said Toshimitsu Tani, 52, of the Fukuoka mines safety control department killed himself with a shotgun blast after saying in a note: "I assume responsibility for the accident."

Hoffa Asks Equal Pay to Canadians

TORONTO (CP) — James Hoffa has committed himself and the resources of his 1,700,000-member union to bridging the wage gap between Canadian truckers and their United States counterparts.

The president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.) said here Saturday the trucking industry will have to face him personally when it sits down to bargain with the Teamsters for a new agreement this year.

Mr. Hoffa was here for a gathering of 1,500 Teamster members and their wives. He said at a press conference after the dinner meeting that it may take a while to eliminate the wage differentials between Canada and the United States, but the union will use its economic strength to do so.

A Canadian trucker wheeling his transport to Detroit earns $1.92 an hour in Canada, but gets $3.02 when he crosses the bridge to the United States, Mr. Hoffa said.

CLAIMS PERSECUTION

In his speech and press conference, Mr. Hoffa pictured himself as a victim of persecution by anti-labor forces aroused by the economic strength of the union and the expanding personal security of the Teamster membership.

Asked whether he expected any change of relations with the United States government under the administration of President Kennedy, he said: "They won't change their method to please me and I won't change mine to please them. I wrestled with them for three years and I can do it some more."

He dismissed a question about corrupt elements in his union with: "There is a percentage of problem cases in every segment of society. We had our percentage and it's less by far than certain corporations the executives of which went to jail. We've had only two people jailed."

More than 11,000 wives and relatives of hospitalized veterans were overnight guests last year at eight Canadian Red Cross Lodges across Canada.

Stuart MacTaggart... 50 years in Victoria.

68 YEARS OF BARBERING

He Had Lifetime Of Close Shaves

By MICHAEL ROSE

The lather brush stands idle and the razor sits unstrapped but it wasn't always like that. Back near the turn of the century the barbershop was a popular place in Victoria and Stuart MacTaggart was a busy man.

That was in 1911 when the young MacTaggart came out from Boston and now, at 82, he is retiring from the tonorial trade after 68 years of shaving and snipping, 50 of them in Victoria.

"When I first came out here," he said, "nearly everyone got shaved in a shop, some of them every day but most just two or three days a week."

HE DUG DEEP

"Saturday was always the busiest day. Then people would come in and get a shave to last them through the weekend."

"You had to dig pretty deep to get some of those cheeks smooth."

From his home at 542 Harbinger, he plans to take up the travelling he abandoned had a century ago.

LATHER BOY

Born in Boston, Mass., of Scottish parents, who brought the art of wool dyeing over with them, MacTaggart started out as a lather boy.

This position, extinct now that a barber may only do two shaves a month, was very necessary in those days when crowds of young bucks would all want shaves at once.

HAVE A GO

"There weren't any barber schools then," he said, "and I just kept on lathering customers for other people until one day I was told to have a try at shaving."

DYING ART

"Everyone used a straight razor then and a customer soon knew if you were any good or not."

"Now it's a dying art but it's still the best way to shave."

Burial Plot Sales Law Proposed

Laws to protect the public against unethical sales practices on burial plots are proposed by the B.C. legislature's welfare committee.

The committee, chairman William Speare (S.C. - Cariboo) reported to the House last week, held five meetings to discuss the practice of pre-need sales of graves.

While it recognized the need for this type of deal (usually a time payment plan), the committee suggested a code under which it should operate.

Proposed legislation: That 88 per cent of the money taken from the public for pre-need plots be put in trust or insured;

That all the money be refunded upon application, including interest, but less a small carrying charge;

That the public be protected against "unsound plans";

That there be regulations against unethical sales practices.

IN TORONTO

Drive Begun By Liberals For Members

TORONTO (CP) — National Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson was scheduled to launch a new membership drive for his party today with a press conference and afternoon and evening speaking engagements.

The membership campaign, described by party officials as a pilot project in the Toronto area which will be spread later to other parts of the country, is an appeal to liberally-minded Canadians to join in "the deliberations, the plans, and the activities" of the party at both federal and provincial level.

New members are being urged to join—with a membership fee of $1—at the riding association level. Mr. Pearson speaks tonight to a rally of five eastern Toronto riding associations.

The slogan for the campaign is: "Help Canada out of the doldrums. Join the Liberal Drive."

Mr. Pearson's Toronto visit followed a weekend of campaigning in southwestern Ontario in the company of Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer. Together they denounced the new 3 per cent provincial sales tax as proof of the failure of Conservative government in Ottawa and Toronto to meet Ontario's financial needs.

RESIGNING from all his remaining offices in the Conservative party is the Marquess of Salisbury, arch-foe of the government's self-government to Africans policy.

John Needs Alibi

(From AP Reports)

Jockey Willie Shoemaker, an old hand at winning the big ones, and a five-year-old Kentucky-bred horse brought down the curtain in grand style at Santa Anita racetrack Saturday.

The Shoe and Don't Alibi teamed up to win the $113,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap—closing feature at the Santa Anita track.

Sweeping down the middle of the grass turf stretch, Don't Alibi beat out Prince Blessed and Notable II—a pair of long-shots—in a blanket finish. The heavily favored combination of Johnny Longden and Geehee Lou finished out of the money.

Victory was worth $68,100 to Don't Alibi's owners.

At Bowie, Md., Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Idolater and Roger W. Wilson's Road House, a pair of invaders from the southern racing centres, finished in a dead heat for first in the 44th running of the $28,000 Bowie Handicap.

The two winners covered the 1 1/16 miles in 1:45 3/5 over a fast track.

At Miami, Argentine-bred Tudor Way romped home a 10-length winner in the $17,350 Appleton Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Alberni Near End of Line

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Dietrich-Collins beat Alberni Athletics, 91-66, Saturday night to take a 3-1 stranglehold in the best-of-seven series for the B.C. senior basketball title.

Dietrich-Collins can eliminate the Athletics, the defending champions, in the fifth game here Friday. Winner of the series advances to the Western Canada final against either Lethbridge or Winnipeg. Wild scored 21 points, 17 in the second half, while Brown had 20. Doug Brinham led Alberni with 19 points.

Alberni lost two first string players, Don Krego and Gary Pantion, through fouls in the third quarter. The teams were assessed 27 personal fouls each.

Dietrich-Collins: Wind (23), Malech (8), Brown (20), R. Drummond (12), G. Drummond (12), Beahome (4), O'Brien (13), Gimpie (5), Butwell (4), O'Brien (13), Kregg (13), Kootenoff (12), Dando (11), Brinham (10), G. Drummond (10), Taylor (5), Radice (5), Hareus (2)—Total: 68.

Nanaimo Skaters One Game Away From Coast Title

NANAIMO—Nanaimo went two up in the best-of-five series for the Pacific Coast intermediate hockey title Saturday night by defeating Powell River, 3-2.

Nanaimo won the first game Friday night, 5-3. Third and possible fourth games will be played in Powell River Friday and Saturday, and if a fifth is needed it will be played in Nanaimo the following Monday.

Stan Berry scored twice to pace Nanaimo. Don Smith scored their other goal. Barry Lang and Hank Goodridge were the Powell River marksmen.

Shell scientists reveal how they "discipline" today's Super Shell to give your car top performance at all speeds

One of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell acts as a disciplinarian—makes sure Super Shell gives you top performance when the going is tough, even under the strain of sudden acceleration and high speeds.

This ingredient is called heavy alkanes. Read how heavy alkanes work to give you plenty of knock-free power at all speeds; how they also increase mileage; and why Shell scientists prize them for their "insensitivity."

SHELL SCIENTISTS will tell you that gasoline can be too sensitive.

That's their unflattering term for gasoline that gives you good enough performance when you're driving slowly, but causes knock and loss of power at higher speeds.

Insensitive disciplinarian

Today's Super Shell is "disciplined" to behave itself at all speeds. A potent dose of heavy alkanes does the job. These are among the heavier of gasoline's hydrocarbons. And also among the most insensitive. A good characteristic for any disciplinarian.

Result: Super Shell gives you top performance whether you're in slow traffic, or accelerating, or cruising on a super-highway.

Tests of top performance

As Super Shell's formula changes from season to season, Shell scientists keep a watchful eye on its sensitivity. They frequently put Super Shell through a series of three anti-knock tests.

First, Super Shell is used to run a special, low-speed laboratory engine. A sensitive meter attached to the engine measures precisely the formula's knack for preventing knock.

The second test is in a laboratory engine that runs at high speeds (see large photograph).

Workout at full throttle

For the third test, Shell's test drivers take over. They fuel late-model cars with Super Shell, drive out to a test track, and really give the gasoline a workout.

In the toughest test, they do what you do when you ask your engine for every bit of power it can give you. They accelerate as fast as they can, foot down to the floor, throttle wide open. They do it again and again, watching for power loss and straining their ears for the slightest hint of "trace knock."

Super Shell must deliver top performance both on the road and in the laboratory. Heavy alkanes help Shell scientists make sure that it does.

Heavyweight punch

Heavy alkanes also help to increase your mileage. Like human heavyweights, they pack extra punch. Your engine can use them up slowly—and still give you all the power you need.

Now here are some facts about the other eight ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things each of them does to give your car top performance.

Ingredient #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a high-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—a substance that has the mysterious ability to alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #3 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

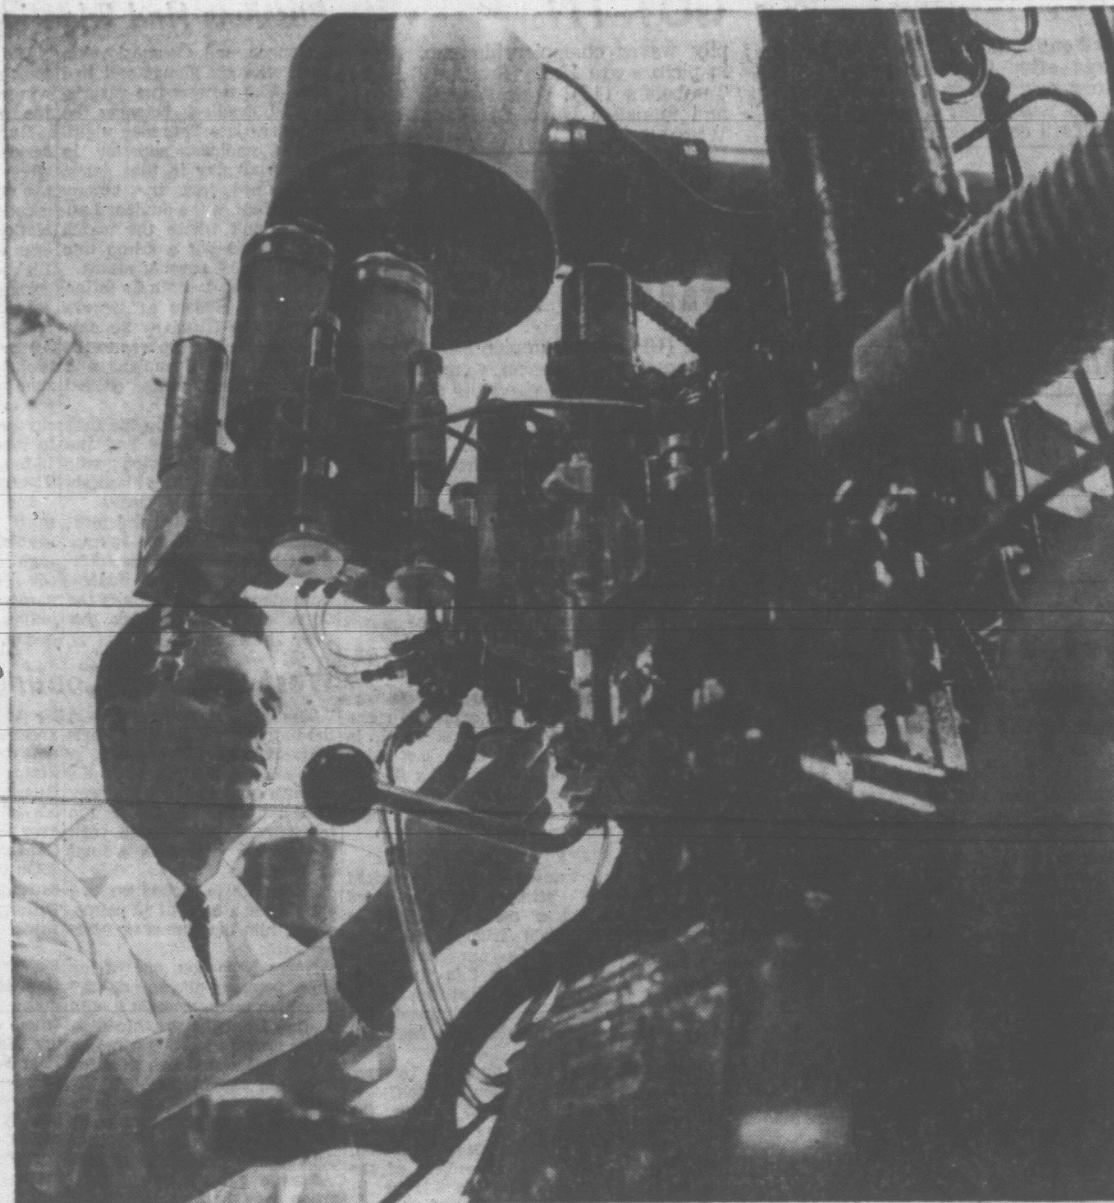

You might think that the two ingredients above would be enough to give you knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by seven points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #4 is TCP for power, mileage and longer life

Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. It was originally developed for use in aviation gasoline.

Shell technician puts Super Shell to the test in a special high-speed laboratory engine. Every batch of Super Shell must deliver top performance at high speeds—or Shell scientists revise the formula. The single-cylinder test motor costs $12,000. It is equipped with an ingenious cylinder-sleeve that can be raised or lowered while the engine is running to change the compression ratio. This helps Shell technicians measure performance precisely.

TCP* additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; 17 extra miles per tankful; and make your plugs last twice as long.

Today's aviation-grade TCP does this by neutralizing the harmful effects of engine deposits. It stops them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss.

It also stops them from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

Ingredient #5 is butane for quick starts on icy mornings

By itself, butane is so volatile that it would actually boil in your refrigerator. In Super Shell, it helps your engine fire in seconds. Think what this means in cold weather. Your battery is relieved of strain—and so is your patience. NOTE: Super Shell is primed with butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

Ingredient #6 is mixed pentanes for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much the way you split logs into kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" to quick-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Ingredient #7 is an "anti-icer" to stop stalling due to carburetor icing

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year for your area to beat the weather. Whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, an anti-ice ingredient is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep the fuel system clean

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors, fuel lines, and pumps. But, with Super Shell you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Keeps an eye on unstable elements—stops them from clotting and forming gum.

Super Shell makes gummed-up engines a thing of the past.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes one million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce its Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum process, which gives Platformate its odd name, re-forms petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, toluene and xylene.

These three alone release 7 per cent more useful energy per gallon than the best 100-octane aviation gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is, until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

Smokies Win World Crown Trim Russia in Final Game

Czech Team Also Unbeaten; Goal Spread Decides Title

GENEVA (CP) — Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters proudly felt today that in winning the world hockey championship they have proved to Europeans that Canadian-style hockey still is best.

The Smokies took the title for the second time in 22 years on a better goal-for-goal basis than the Czechoslovakia team at the end of the 12-day championships.

The Canadians and Czechs finished equal with 13 points in seven games, but the Canadians had a goal spread of 12 compared to nine for the Czechs.

The game that wrapped it up for the Smokies was a 5-1 victory over Russia Sunday night a few hours after Czechoslovakia downed Sweden, 5-2.

The Canadians methodically wore down the Russians, taking a 4-0 lead in the third period before the Russians could get a goal.

The Smokies played better, skated faster, passed more briskly and checked heavier than in any of their previous six tournament starts.

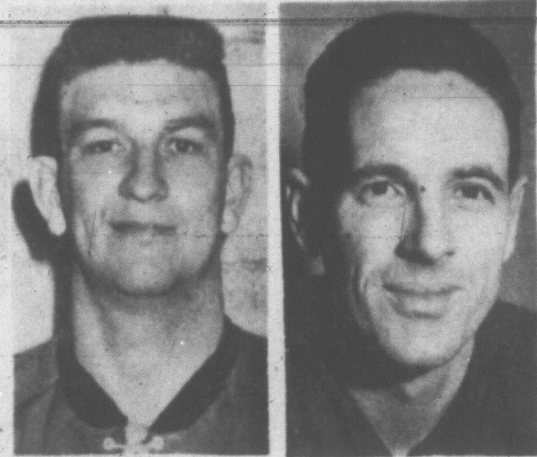

The Russians tried to match the Canadians when it came to throwing poundage around and a fight broke out in the second period between centre Dave Russell and Russian forward Vyacheslav Starshinov. Both drew majors.

But the Russians didn't have anything to compare with Don Fletcher, 197 pounds of dynamite, who gleefully up-ended at least a half-dozen opponents.

"The championship proved that our way of playing—accuracy combined with toughness and aggressiveness—is still the only way to win a big game," said Canadian coach Bobby Kromm.

Against Russia, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and East Germany, the other teams in the final first five, Canada scored 17 goals and allowed five for a differential of 12. The Czechs scored 17 goals and allowed eight against the same teams for a differential of nine.

Canucks More Flexible

GENEVA (CP) — "Yippee, we made it!" yelled coach Bobby Kromm of Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters and he threw his red jacket high in the air when Canada took the world hockey championship Sunday night.

"It's the greatest thing in my life. The boys were wonderful. They did a great job."

Kromm said his players knew they'd win the final battle against Russia "because our spirits had never been higher."

"The match was ours right from the whistle. The Russians put up a real tough resistance but we just beat them to the puck when it counted, because we were much faster and better than they."

BEST SYSTEM

Kromm said the tournament showed that "our way of playing hockey — accuracy combined with a good deal of toughness and aggressiveness — is still the only way to win a big game."

"The Russians seemed to rely too heavily on positional play, and sometimes a Russian would rather hold his assigned position than go right in wherever he was needed."

"Our boys worked more flexibly. Each of them did an all-around job."

BETTER PASSING

"The team worked perfectly together. We had the better passing technique and we played the puck close to the body."

"Whenever the Russians had it, we'd let them come close and then steamroll the Russian puck carrier until it was ours again."

"It's hard to pick out best players because the team was so good as a whole."

Marcel Keeps Cats Smiling

Marcel Pelletier is the Western Hockey League's highest-scoring goaltender, so this just happens to be another one of those days when Victoria Cougars are happy to say he's on their side.

But it is Marcel the Magnificent's defensive manoeuvres rather than his point-getting that delights his teammates the most.

He displayed both Sunday but it was his display in goal that enabled the Cougars to breathe a little easier today. Pelletier was at his colorful best in Spokane's Coliseum, making 40 saves to spark Victoria to a 5-3 victory over the Comets.

Cougars' second straight decision over Spokane boosted Victoria's hold on the sixth and last playoff spot to four points over Edmonton Flyers, Cougars and Flyers both have nine games to play.

INSURANCE GOAL

Pelletier stymied the Comets for most of the game, robbing them of almost certain goals time and again. He had little chance on the three shots that got by him and also took part in Cougars' offensive play by starting a two-man rush that resulted in Victoria's insurance goal in the dying moments of the game.

It is the second assist of the season credited to the flamboyant Frenchman.

The line of Barrie Ross, Bill Saunders and Doug Macauley, continuing to celebrate their reunion with a rash of goals, led Victoria's goal-getters for a second straight game.

Russians Had Edge in First Minutes

Canada and Czechoslovakia each won six games and tied one. The tie was the surprising 1-1 deadlock between the countries last Thursday night.

The Canadians, superior in territorial play in that game, complained that the bumpy ice surface in the outdoor Lussan rink where the match was played put a crimp into the Smokies' passing attack.

But it was an entirely different story indoors at Geneva against the Russians Sunday. The smooth surface was to the liking of the Canadians and their passing plays clicked beautifully.

For a brief spell in the first period the Russians had the edge and severely tested goalie SETH MARTIN, wearing his flesh-colored plastic face mask.

But Martin, voted the most valuable goalie in the tournament by officials of the International Ice Hockey Federation, stood his ground and the Canadians surged back for their first goal.

Defenceman Harry Smith took a perfect pass from right winger Jack McLeod and hit the net from about 10 feet out.

Russell and Starshinov were serving their major penalties when McLeod got the first of his two goals midway in the second period. The former National Hockey League veteran completed a passing play, flicking the puck into an open corner.

Less than two minutes later Hal Jones put Canada ahead 3-0 as he and Walt Peacock broke away from their own zone with only a Russian defenceman in their path. Jones carried the puck, faked a pass to Peacock and then drilled a 15-footer past Soviet goalie Vladimir Tchniov.

Just 35 seconds after the third period started McLeod grabbed a rebound and fired high into the centre of the net for his 10th goal of the tournament, more than any other player in the championship group.

On the last day the cold war caused the West Germans, to withdraw from the championships.

For years the West Germans have refused to recognize the flag of Communist East Germany in sporting events, and when the IIHF ruled that if the West Germans lost to the East Germans they would have to salute the flag—customary under tournament procedure—the West Germans refused and pulled out.

The IIHF then forfeited the match to East Germany 5-0 and the two points gave them fifth place with four points. That's how the East Germans figured in the final tally of goal spread.

Fans Can Follow Punching Progress

The fight fans in tonight's hockey crowd won't be forgotten.

Doug Fletcher, the president of the Commercial Hockey League, announced today that a running account of tonight's heavyweight championship fight will be provided as often as possible for fans attending league playoffs at Memorial Arena.

Sweden's Ingemar Johansson meets champion Floyd Patterson for the boxing title.

At the Arena, it will be Navy against Independents and Pattersons against Port Alberni in the second games of a best-of-three semi-final series. Navy and Pattersons both hold 1-0 advantages.

First game is at 7 o'clock.

Scheduled to toss punches in the featherweight division, Black weighed in two pounds over the 125-pound limit. Such trivial matters didn't stop him from winning the lightweight title by scoring impressive victories over Sertoma clubmate Ernie Falconer and Joe LeBlanc of the PPCLI.

PPCLI's Bob McNeil, winner of the middleweight class with a decision over Ladysmith's Danny Daniels, was awarded the Ed Duffin Memorial Trophy.

As the boxer combining sportsmanship with ability, Daniels was voted the "best prospect" of the tourney. Skimp Williams of Chemainus, gradually rounding into the shape that earned him provincial recognition last year, was runner-up for Golden Boy honors. Williams defeated PPCLI's Doug Cole in the light-middleweight final.

In other finals, Bruce Baillie of Chemainus decisively defeated Flynn of the PPCLI for ship.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Champion Floyd Patterson and Swedish Ingemar Johansson were officially notified today that the gate had passed the all-important $400,000 mark for their third and decisive heavyweight title fight tonight at Miami Beach Convention Hall.

Both boxers expressed relief that sportsman Bill MacDonal of Miami Beach would lose no money on his $400,000 guarantee for the scheduled 15-round fight, and officials of Feature Sports Inc., sent a telegram to MacDonald releasing him from the guarantee.

A crowd of 13,000 is expected when 26-year-old Patterson of Rockville Centre, N.Y., and 28-year-old Johansson of Sweden and Switzerland square off with the six-ounce gloves at 7:30 p.m. (PST).

STIFF TRAINING

Johansson, who knocked out Patterson in the third round of their first fight in 1959, told friends today he hoped his unprecedentedly stiff training this time had geared him to stiffen Floyd again and make himself the second man to win back the title.

Although tonight's international "rubber match" is scheduled for 15 rounds, the betting is at "even money" that it doesn't last more than six rounds, regardless of the winner. And it's 8-1 that it doesn't go the full 15 sessions.

If it goes 15, it's 25-1 that Patterson will win the decision.

When tonight's match was first made for the 15,222-seat arena, officials of Feature Sports aimed at a sellout of $1,000,000—with tickets priced at $100, $50 and $20. But now it appears unlikely that the gate will reach $500,000.

MAY BE RICHEST

However, the bout still may be the richest fight in history because of the booming sales at theatre-TV locations in the United States and Canada, as well as the large guarantees paid for radio, movies and foreign kinescopes.

Irving B. Kahn, president of Teleprompter—which bought the rights to theatre-TV, radio, movies, etc.—announced that the total receipts from those "ancillaries" promise an unprecedented gross of $4,000,000.

Johansson, who floored Floyd seven times in the third round for a technical knockout in their first fight, will be free to defend against any challenger he chooses if he takes the title from Patterson tonight. There's no return-bout contract.

Veteran Jim Mills leads city bowlers at the half-way mark of the Victoria zone tenpin singles playoffs.

At the conclusion of 12 games Sunday, Mills had 2,239 pins compared to 2,234 for second-place Len Murrant, who was 30 ahead of Wilf Johnston.

Mills added 1,124 Sunday to his Saturday six-game total of 1,135 to take the lead.

Johnston led the field after Saturday's play with 1,151.

High single honors for the weekend went to Jack Fletcher, with 247.

Remaining 12 games in the playoffs will be played next weekend.

Vancouver Swimmers Top Telegraphic Meet

Vancouver swimmers dominated the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association's first telegraphic meet, but many youngsters throughout the Dominion made encouraging showings.

Some 1,118 youngsters below the age of 16 took part in the age-group competition which was held at the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo. Vancouver swimmers won 13 of the 32 events.

Victoria Amateur Swim Club and Victoria YMCA, although disappointed with their times, each placed one member among the first three.

VASC's Grant Treloar made the best showing of Victoria's boys, finishing second to Don Cooper of Vancouver in the boy's 10-and-under 25-yard backstroke. Pam Crutehlow of the Y team took a third in the 100-yard breaststroke for girls 15 and 16 years.

Several of Victoria's most experienced swimmers felt unfamiliarity with Royal Roads pool, where the races were held Friday, could be blamed for turning in times poorer than expected.

Races were also held in other Canadian cities and tabulated in Montreal.

BLACK TAKES TOP AWARD

Tom Steps Up to Golden Boy Trophy

The Golden Boy Trophy was the most coveted award given away at the Central Junior High School gym Saturday night, but visiting boxing coaches are of the opinion Victoria fans might turn out to be the big winners.

The action-packed Vancouver Island Gloves Tournament went over as smooth as silk and Bert Wilkinson of the promoting Sertoma Boxing Club said today the big fight event "will be a permanent thing in Victoria."

Saturday's turnout of about 900 fans—saw 17-year-old Tommy Black walk off with the Golden Boy Trophy.

And Black, also voted the tournament's "most scientific boxer," put his mitts on the top individual award by stepping up to a heavier class than he planned.

Scheduled to toss punches in the featherweight division, Black weighed in two pounds over the 125-pound limit. Such trivial matters didn't stop him from winning the lightweight title by scoring impressive victories over Sertoma clubmate Ernie Falconer and Joe LeBlanc of the PPCLI.

PPCLI's Bob McNeil, winner of the middleweight class with a decision over Ladysmith's Danny Daniels, was awarded the Ed Duffin Memorial Trophy.

As the boxer combining sportsmanship with ability, Daniels was voted the "best prospect" of the tourney. Skimp Williams of Chemainus, gradually rounding into the shape that earned him provincial recognition last year, was runner-up for Golden Boy honors. Williams defeated PPCLI's Doug Cole in the light-middleweight final.

In other finals, Bruce Baillie of Chemainus decisively defeated Flynn of the PPCLI for ship.

Fans Can Follow Punching Progress

The fight fans in tonight's hockey crowd won't be forgotten.

Doug Fletcher, the president of the Commercial Hockey League, announced today that a running account of tonight's heavyweight championship fight will be provided as often as possible for fans attending league playoffs at Memorial Arena.

Sweden's Ingemar Johansson meets champion Floyd Patterson for the boxing title.

At the Arena, it will be Navy against Independents and Pattersons against Port Alberni in the second games of a best-of-three semi-final series. Navy and Pattersons both hold 1-0 advantages.

First game is at 7 o'clock.

Boomer Is Closing In On Two Scoring Marks

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, in the finest hours of an 11-year National Hockey League career, crept close to two NHL's top season records during the week end.

The Boomer, 30, scored his 47th, 48th and 49th goals of the season when the Canadiens dumped Boston Bruins 7-5 Saturday and Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 Sunday to regain first place in the tight NHL pennant race.

Geoffrion now is only one goal short of retired Maurice Richard's record of 50 in one season. The Rocket established his mark in 50 games during the 1944-45 season.

The burly right winger also picked up one assist to total 93, three short of teammate Dickie Moore's record of 96.

Geoffrion has accomplished all this in just 61 games. He missed six of Canadiens' games in January and has three outings left in which to continue his assault on league records.

LEAFS TIE, WIN

Toronto Maple Leafs picked up a tie and a win in two games and are one point behind the Canadiens in the league standings.

The Leafs rallied to tie Chicago 2-2 at Toronto Saturday and then blanked the Bruins 5-0 at Boston Sunday.

In another big weekend development, Toronto goalie Johnny Bower took a giant step towards his first Vezina Trophy—awarded to the goalie who plays the most games for the team that allows the fewest goals.

Bower went into weekend games tied at 165 goals with Chicago's Glenn Hall. But Hall's chances were all but ruined by the Canadiens' Sunday. The Chicago goalie now trails Bower by six goals and each has only three games left.

Geoffrion registered his 47th and 48th goals against the Bruins and his 49th against Chicago. The 49th tied the record, set by Detroit's Gordie Howe in 1952-53, for the most goals over a 70-game schedule.

The Boomer has two more goals than Toronto's Frank Mahovich, in a slump and held scoreless in both his weekend games.

Henri Richard scored three of Montreal's other goals in Saturday's win over the Bruins. Singles went to Marcel Bonin and Billy Hicke.

Jean Beliveau drew his 54th and 55th assists of the season on Geoffrion's goals, breaking the NHL record for most assists by a centre in one year.

Oaks Wind Up In Usual Spot

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATE
PATTERSON vs. JOHAN

VANCOUVER — It's not a habit that makes Oak Bay athletes happy, but the Oaks are the perennial also-rans in the B.C. high school rugby final.

Saturday's 12-0 defeat at the hands of Vancouver's David of the game.

Thompson School marked the fourth straight year Oak Bay has emerged on the short side in the provincial final.

This year, like two years ago, was an off-season game, between the Island winner and the Vancouver champion. Thompson finished its season three months ago. Oak Bay has already clinched the league title and will enter the final for the Island championship when it returns.

Saturday Thompson seemed to have its own way against Oak Bay. Playing in mud and a strong wind, Thompson kept the visitors pressed into their

Gorge Wreck Kicker Hopes

Most of the interest in this Victoria and District Football League season has been centred on the scramble at the top of the ladder, but has anybody been paying attention to who has been doing all the stomping down below?

It's Gorge Hotel.

The Hotelmen hold down the seventh rung in the 11-team league, but if they continue to move as they have in recent weeks then it's quite possible they may be the spotlight-stealers in post-season play.

With games in hand over every team, Gorge stands a good chance of finishing among the top five. They made another move in that direction Sunday by blanking Brodies 3-0 behind Archie MacMillan's steady netminding.

Dunc McCaig, Ian Holroyd and Kurt Lambert scored Gorge goals.

In the only other game played Sunday, Victoria West ruined any chances of Kickers finishing in first by defeating them 4-2 at Heywood Avenue Park. Pat Mulcahy was the Eventually, he hopes, they'll get around to playing the division final. But it could be a long wait.

Business Brisk, Prices Gaining

Panel Asking Why Housing Sales Decline

VANCOUVER (CP) — A selected group of architects, mortgage men, realtors, forest industry officials and housebuilders is attempting to find an answer to the slow rate of new home sales in British Columbia.

The experts feel gimmicks and gadgets are being substituted for sound design by many B.C. housebuilders.

Architects, governments and housebuilders came under sharp criticism when the group met here.

Housebuilders were warned that in the present buyers' market they must face competition from consumer products. New homes have to be made more desirable than new cars, stereo sets and holidays abroad.

The panel was headed by moderator J. E. Dudley, a leading Vancouver architect and chairman of the housing committee of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

Not enough attention is being paid to good design of smaller homes, the panel said. Instead, builders are using gimmicks and gadgets to make homes saleable.

CRITICIZED GOVERNMENT

The panelists pointed to a number of major bills affecting the industry.

The federal government did not escape criticism. It and previous governments were accused of using housing as a political football to regulate the economy.

This, said the 10 panelists, has made the industry unstable, created a fringe of un-sound marginal operators in boom times and made it tough to trim off the fat in leaner times.

Bob Harrison, chairman of the Vancouver chapter of the Architects Institute, claimed that Canada is not "getting down to the problem of designing houses for all levels of society."

Professor Phillip White of the University of B.C. said it is harder to buy houses, especially older houses, in Canada than in either the United States or Britain.

He said many people who were better able to afford an older home were forced into new property because of lower NHA down payments.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG				CHICAGO
Winnipeg (CP) — Trade was moderately active today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as export interest appeared slow.				Chicago (AP) — Grain futures today generally worked within a narrow price range both ways from Friday's closes while old crop soybeans slipped several cents in spots under increased selling pressure.
Most operations were carried out in the flax and rye markets. Flax showed a firm undertone with occasional irregularity caused by fluctuations in Chicago soybean quotations.				Soybeans finished 1/4 to 3/4 cents a bushel lower, March $2.79 1/4; wheat 1/4 to 1/2 lower, March $2.08 1/4; corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, March $1.15; oats 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, March 64 1/4; rye unchanged to 1/4 lower, March $1.27 1/2.
Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 570,000 bushels; Japan 515,000; Russia 330,000; and Belgium 115,000.				Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all 1/4 higher with the exception of 1 Northern which was 1/4 higher from Friday.
For the losers, Bank of Montreal fell a point to 61 1/2. Mining gains were prominent throughout steady trading.				Western oil trade showed small but steady gains. Pacific Petroleum was up 1/4 to 12 1/2, and Canadian Devonian rose 30 cents to $4.40.
AT MONTREAL papers led stocks fractionally higher in active trading early this afternoon.				Losers included Montreal Bank down a point at 61 1/2. Consolidated Papers off 1/4 at 44 1/2 and Steel of Canada off 1/4 at 76 1/2.
Base metals were firm but western oils eased. Home Oil A at 11 1/2 and Home Oil B at 10 1/2 both slipped 1/4 and Royalty dipped 15 cents to $8.60.				AT NEW YORK selected issues posted some big gains in a mixed stock market as trading slowed late today after a heavy opening. Building materials, oil and electrical equipments helped firm the averages.
Canadian stocks changed only fractionally. Dome Mines was up 1/4 to lead winners and Granby Mining down 1/4 to top losers.				AT LONDON prices were irregular in busy trading. Interest in gilt-edged securities was low and little change in prices was recorded.

Appliance Firm Pricing Studied

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The combines investigation branch is taking a close look at the action of appliance manufacturers in fixing minimum prices at which their products can be sold.

"We are aware of the situation, and we have the whole matter under consideration," said an official of the combines branch.

Manufacturers of electrical appliances embarked on a campaign to set minimum retail prices for their products shortly after the Conservative government diluted anti-resale price maintenance laws seven months ago.

Word of the "pricing guides" and the setting of "efficient retailer prices" is just coming to light as discount houses are beginning to feel the pressure. The discount houses, which depend on a small markup and a large volume for success, are the main target of the manufacturers.

Today, many of them refuse to quote prices for name-brand appliances over the telephone, and only the boldest will advertise cut rate prices for such appliances.

New policy letters issued by Canadian General Electric, Sunbeam of Canada, Canadian Westinghouse and other appliance manufacturers have come under attack from the Canadian Association of Consumers. "Outrageous," said CAC head Mrs. A. F. W. Plumtre.

Gov't Amendments Loosened Law

The resale price maintenance issue exploded in the House of Commons last year, when the government gave manufacturers a number of reasons for cutting off supplies to retailers.

In the past, under Liberal legislation introduced 10 years ago, it was illegal for a manufacturer to fix the retail price of his product.

Conservative amendments pushed through last year in the face of bitter opposition criticism allows manufacturers to cut off supplies from any dealer who makes a practice of loss leading, engage in misrepresentative advertising, or fail to provide an adequate level of service.

The manufacturers interpret the rule changes as giving them the right to set minimum retail prices, although the act still contains a ban against resale price maintenance.

In each case, the manufacturers threaten to cut off supplies from any retailer who does not set a price that will provide him with a "reasonable" profit. There is no explanation how the cost of running an appliance store can be related to any one item in stock.

WIFE CAN TURN DRIVER FROM LAMB TO LUNATIC

LONDON (Reuters) — Wife trouble turns some Englishmen into raging lunatics at the wheels of their cars. Transport Minister Ernest Marples suggested today.

Addressing traffic experts from 15 countries, he said motivational psychology should be used to study accident-prone motorists to see what influences their behavior.

"Some drivers are very contented and placid at one moment and at the next they go forward like raging lunatics," he said. "Maybe it is caused by matrimonial circumstances or wife troubles."

AWFUL DARK AND COLD

90 Minutes in Freezer, Boy Chilled But Alive

CHICAGO (AP) — "It was awful dark and cold and I couldn't find the handle."

That was four-year-old Johnny Cleary's account Saturday of his brush with death when he was trapped for 1½ hours in his family's food freezer.

The lad later was reported well along the road to recovery in hospital.

Standing on a chair, Johnny was examining the freezer contents Friday when apparently he lost his balance and fell in. The heavy lid dropped shut above him.

His mother telephoned police when she was unable to find him.

His father, 37, who had just returned home from work, spotted the chair in front of the freezer in the basement of their south side home. He found Johnny crouched in with the vegetables, half conscious and half frozen.

The boy's temperature was 95, nearly four degrees below normal, when doctors examined him.

GE UPHELD BY COURT IN BIG SUIT

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A $750,000 damage suit against General Electric Company was dismissed today by a U.S. district court.

Judge Frederick Mercer upheld a dismissal motion by GE's lawyer, Timothy Swain, asserting that the complaint was insufficient.

The suit was filed Feb. 9 by J. Orion Brunk and Mrs. Mary Brown, both of Peoria, asking triple damages on behalf of themselves and 50,000 other GE retail customers, citing the firm's admission in another case that some GE officials had joined other firms in price fixing.

'More Red Tape' Facing Teachers

Teachers are being wrapped in more red tape as a result of the Chant Report, a former president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation told his colleagues at an Education Week banquet here.

Harold Parrott, vice-principal of Belmont High School, sounded the warning in an address Friday night to the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association in Holyrood House.

He said new legislation following the "reactionary facets of education underlying" the Chant Report would restrict school board autonomy and make it possible for principals and teachers to be fired without a hearing or right of appeal.

"Little by little this insidious gnawing away at individual liberty goes on," he said. "The teachers must become aroused."

"The public attitude toward education is fostered and nurtured by those in authority and tolerated by them when they should know better."

Mr. Parrott said teachers should assume full control over their profession or someone else will.

"The heart and soul of the teaching profession is a body of enthusiastic enterprising teachers, unburdened and unfettered by bureaucracy."

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keale

The appearance in town today of Mr. R. McC. Samples, DSO, head of the United Kingdom information service in Canada, reminds us of a strange but little-recognized fact: in addition to all their other virtues, the British are expert salesmen.

Down through the centuries they have demonstrated a proud and positive talent for reticence. In recent years, however, they have evinced a willingness to talk about their nation—and they are doing so surpassingly well.

A few weeks ago they sent us a magazine called "Viewpoint," elegantly written and illustrated and as far removed from propaganda as it is possible to imagine. Now, for the twelfth year in a row, they have published a fact book called "Britain, An Official Handbook," which conveys a fascinating picture of the manners and mores of our cousins across the seas.

A random sampling of this invaluable reference work reveals among other things:

That a quarter of all homes have a caged bird, slightly over a fifth have a cat, and slightly under a fifth a dog; there are probably some four million dogs in Britain, over six million cats, and eight or nine million pet birds, mainly budgerigars.

Britons smoke only three million cigars a year. Twelve per cent of those who smoke cigars prefer filter-tips.

About five million persons go dancing every week. Nineteen million Britons garden in their spare time.

There are 8,500 Women's Institutes in England and Wales, which means that someone is doing an awful lot of after-luncheon speaking.

The 1961 population of the United Kingdom is about 53 million. Density of population is in excess of 552 persons per square mile. (On Vancouver Island, it is 21 per square mile.)

The average family size is 2.2 persons, as against Canada's 3.7.

There is no longer a surplus of women at the usual ages of marriage.

Although one-third of all married women in the U.K. have paid jobs, their life as home-makers is easier. Two houses out of three have vacuum cleaners; one in three a washing machine and one in eight a refrigerator. Two out of three homes have a TV set.

Average work-week is 42 to 46 hours. Collective agreements between employers' associations and trades unions are not civil contracts, enforceable in law. Time lost in strikes over the past 20 years has been one-tenth of a day per worker per year.

In the early 30s, when times were tough all over, there were 706,800 resident domestic servants in England and Wales. By 1951 this figure had dwindled to 178,000, most of them from Ireland or continental Europe.

At least a quarter of the adult population play or watch sport. Seventy-five per cent bet occasionally on football pools and racing.

There are 3,500 cinemas and 500 theatres in Britain.

Mr. Average Briton consumes about three pounds of bread and 7½ ounces of sweets and chocolates each week.

The average output of toys per child is $14 a year.

Britons produce 421 million gallons of soft drinks annually—or approximately eight gallons per person.

Some 2,000 different varieties of building bricks are produced at the 800 works in Britain.

Sir Alan Herbert, commenting on "the boom of the boat," notes that more than 1,000 pleasure boats are using the Thames River each year.

And do Britons love their newspapers? The U.S., with a population of 180 millions, has two newspapers with more than a million circulation. London has six, including the Mirror (4,565,327) and the Express, published by Canada's Lord Beaverbrook (4,142,856).

FIVE-DAY SPECTACLE ENVISAGED AT MEMORIAL ARENA

International Horse Show Proposed for Centenary

Plans are under way to stage "the biggest international horse show ever" in Victoria as a feature of centennial year celebrations in 1962.

Still in the embryo stage, the plans are ambitious, with the focal point being Memorial Arena.

It would mean covering the concrete floor of the ice area "ring" with clay and sawdust for proper footing, and erection of temporary stabling near the arena.

Behind the plan is Victoria Riding Academy manager Don Carley, who sees a five-day event similar to San Francisco's annual Cow Palace horse spectacular.

"A show of the magnitude I know we can stage would attract large numbers of Americans as well as people from all parts of Canada, and would give Victoria something different in its birthday year," Mr. Carley said.

He has started correspondence with various organizations in the south regarding participation and has made contact with a local service club on possible sponsorship.

It is possible two international jumping teams would take part in exhibitions during the week-long show. And entries in competitive events already have been assured from California, Oregon and Washington and the B.C. mainland.

"I am positive there would be entries from other parts of the United States and Canada after word gets out," Mr. Carley said.

Information on the availability of a "big name" professional horse act from Hollywood is being sought as an attraction for the show.

Early planning is important for such an event, Mr. Carley said, and co-operation from many different Greater Victoria organizations will be needed "to put it over."

Ship Imperilled As Lines Snap

Rough 'Crossfire' When Wind Changes

By MONTE ROBERTS

A British freighter moored at Ogden Point was in grave danger of smashing herself against the concrete dock when four mooring lines broke during the height of Sunday afternoon's gale.

The 10,000-ton Ss. Frumerton was moored at South "B," ready to resume loading lumber today, when a shift in the wind hauled around to west southwest, pouring directly into the area between piers "A" and "B" and setting up heavy cross-seas.

The freighter, surging against her mooring lines, snapped them faster than they could be replaced.

Before the shift in the wind, she had been riding fairly easily to her moorings, although all lines had been doubled up as a precautionary measure.

The ship's bow surged up and down in 14-foot lunges, missing the concrete abutment at the end of the dock by scant feet. Both anchors were lowered to control the ship.

Knowing it might be necessary to try to move the freighter to sea, the captain ordered a wireless message sent to the department of transport station at Gordon Head, requesting tugs to stand by and a coastal pilot to come aboard.

The message was passed by telephone to B.C. Pilotage office on Dallas Road, only a few hundred yards from the ship.

BY DERRICK

Request for aid was answered by two harbor towboats from Island Tug and Barge Ltd., and by Capt. Jack Wigham of B.C. Pilotage. Capt. Wigham was hoisted aboard by derrick, as the companionway could not be used.

The ship's struggle against her mooring lines continued for more than two hours, gradually easing off as the winds died down after dark.

A second freighter, Ss. Hawkatt, anchored in Royal Roads during the day rather than to attempt to dock in the gale. She came into berth this morning.

RUBBLE MARKS the wind's victory over a newly erected concrete block wall which was demolished Sunday about 11:30 a.m. Strong gust knocked over the 175-foot length of seven-foot-high wall on the Esquimalt sports arena site. Although spectacular, damage was estimated only about $1,000. It is covered by insurance.

CAR CRUSHED

Fir Trees 'On Target' Once Again

Lighting may never strike the same place twice but trees do.

Dr. Jack Morrison, of 3530 Cardiff Place near the Uplands Golf Club, ruefully chalked up another damage report by trees today.

Sunday's storm dropped a tall fir on his 1957 car—crushing the roof down into the seats.

BLACK SUNDAY

One month ago—also on a Sunday—high winds slammed two other evergreen trees across the roof of his new house.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,000-$1,200. "The car was parked in the driveway. About 10:30 a.m. we heard a terrific crash—there was the tree on top of the car," Dr. Morrison said.

Damage is covered by insurance.

"And just a month ago, the trees fell on our house. But that time there wasn't too much damage—some cracked plaster and broken gutters."

Dr. Morrison said the fallen trees came from an adjoining property.

Asked what his first thoughts were when he saw his tree-crushed car, he replied: "Unprintable."

It is understood the contract will be awarded in 30 days. When completed the lodge will provide accommodation for 140 elderly persons.

'MY LORD'

New Justice Welcomed By Lawyers

Mr. Justice Robert Wootton, recently appointed Victoria's only resident Supreme Court judge, was welcomed today by 80 members of the Victoria Bar Association in a 10:30 a.m. ceremony in the courthouse here.

The gathering was held before Mr. Justice Wootton's first appearance on the bench since his appointment.

He was welcomed by the president of the association, John McIntosh, W. H. M. Haldane, QC, and J. Alan Baker, QC.

'MR. PRESIDENT'

Mr. McIntosh recalled that over the years he had addressed His Lordship as "Mr. President," when he was president of the Victoria Bar Association, as "Mr. Vice-President" when he held that position with the Canadian Bar Association, and as "Mr. Bencher" when he was a bencher of the Law Society of B.C.

It would now be "My Lord," and "Mr. Justice."

On behalf of the association he expressed "best wishes from each and every one of us."

His sentiments were echoed by the other speakers.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Would you please inform me what the letters "HMTS" which prefixed the cable-laying vessel Monarch's name in a recent newspaper, stand for? E.J.C.

A. The navy reports the use must have been in error as all British naval cable laying ships are auxiliary vessels, manned by civilians, and are therefore not entitled to use the HMT prefix.

Q. How did Carman, Man, get its name? P.F.

A. It was named in 1890 after Rev. Albert Carman, then a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada.

ASK THE TIMES is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. No attempt will be made to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Give a Blackthorn Stick On St. Patrick's Day

By PENNY SAVER

It's pretty difficult for an Irishman in Victoria to walk with "a shillelagh under his arm"—shillelaghs aren't available for export—but he can be the owner of one of the genuine Irish blackthorn walking sticks I saw this week! They'd make an ideal St. Patrick's Day gift.

Each has an individuality of its own and has been cut and shaped in manner used for centuries.

It takes five years to grow one of these thorns and they must be cut in the winter. Folk lore connected with them dates back to days of the Druids.

Depending on size of knob handle and thickness of stick, they range in price from $6.50 upwards.

As green as the beloved shamrock are sticks of shaving soap made in the land of the "little people."

Men will love this soap that's made by world-famous Irish firm that has been manufacturing soaps for more than 100 years. I'm told it's marvellous for wind-burn or tender skin. Sticks are priced at 75 cents.

Dainty enough to grace any tea tray are creams and sugars in bone china that sell at $2.50 a set. These, too, would make an ideal St. Patrick's Day gift for they're decorated in an attractive Irish theme.

On one side two Irish dandies are pictured while other is decorated with a coy colleen. Shapely shamrocks complete design.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Young and Old Can Meet In the Area of Music

It is impossible for older and younger generations to bridge the age gap entirely, and to a certain extent, this is as it should be.

However, I always have felt that we could come much closer to getting together, and that both generations would profit by it, if we did not think constantly in terms of age. There are areas in which all of those who are youthful in heart can meet without thought of age. Music is one of them.

It is interesting to note how many of the songs their fathers and mothers loved have been revived and are now popular with the younger generation. A great many of these young people also are addicted to classical music as well as to far-out jazz and rock and roll. However, perhaps the greatest meeting ground of all in music is the world of folk songs.

A recent interview with The Brothers Four highlighted this. You probably have heard their records and/or seen them on television where they have been guests on many of the best shows.

The Brothers Four are not blood brothers, but fraternity brothers. They are making a career of what they started doing for fun when they first got to know each other at the University of Washington, singing their own arrangements of folk songs.

And where do they get their audiences? At Golden Age Clubs only? Far from it! Young people of college age and younger can't get enough of these songs. The Brothers Four do a tightly-booked year-round concert tour, appearing almost exclusively at colleges and universities throughout the country.

Any of you who measure life in years will profit by the remarks of these young men. And if you feel out of touch with your children, why not invest in some of the areas where the younger and older generations meet? Some of these are enthusiasm, humor, love of life and music.

Spadea's International Designer PATTERN

Mingolini Gugenheim

This year's style trend is greatly influenced by the taste of a fashionable young woman now so well known to all of us. Evidenced by what we have seen to date, the lovely lady prefers clothes that merely flirt with the waistline, as in this Mingolini Gugenheim design. The demi-fit has Mr. Gugenheim's vote, and yours too, we hope. But should you favor a more defined mid-section, our pattern presents no problem—simply take deeper darts and side seams! Here, the bibbed front yoke is pleated for extra good looks, then faced to hold its shape. Mimicking its counterpart, the back yoke curves away from the neck and buttons to the waistline. Top-stitching outlines the yokes, cuffs, the sleeves and borders the hem. The dress makes up beautifully in pique, novelty cottons, shantung or raw silk, and don't overlook the pure luxury of linen. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to ready-to-wear.

Size	Bust	Waist	Slips	Length*
8	33	23	34	16 1/2 inches
10	34	24	35	16 1/2 inches
12	35	25	36	16 1/2 inches
14	36 1/2	26 1/2	37 1/2	17 inches
16	38	28	39	17 1/2 inches

*From nape of neck to waist.

Size 12 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch fabric for dress; 1/2 yard of 36-inch fabric for lining.

To order Pattern No. NS-341, state size, send $1.25. For air mail handling, add 25c. For Book No. 17, send $1.25. Address Spadea, Box 993, G.P.O., Dept. CVX-5, New York 1, New York. Spadea Patterns are the only patterns using ready-to-wear sizes. Please allow two weeks for delivery.

DEAR ABBY: I am sick of especially young girls whose feet are still developing. They are making themselves candidates for bunions surgery and a multitude of other foot disorders.

SHOE SALESMAN.

DEAR SHOE SALESMAN: Please don't tell me what we women want. We take what we can get. I am convinced that the sack dress, those goofy mile-high hair-dos (that no woman can comb herself) and those hideous, pointed-toe shoes were designed by men who hate women and want to make them look as ridiculous as possible. If there is a national shoe manufacturers' association, please give me the address. I would like to send them all the mail I receive from women who protest the new style shoes. A letter (or postcard) to this column will help—and I lead all the rest.

DEAR ABBY: I am with you all the way in your campaign to get rid of those homely Wizard of Oz witches' shoes. I have a long and narrow foot (nine), and you can imagine what my feet look like in the new spring shoes. I refuse to wear grey shoes because they look like gun boats!

Schaddelee-Mars Vows In Centennial Church

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob (Jack) Schaddelee, who were married Saturday evening in Centennial United Church, are presently honeymooning up-Island. Standards of spring flowers decorated the church for the wedding at which Dr. S. J. Parsons officiated.

Bride is the former Miss Donna Mary Mars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Mars, 1334 McNair Street. She was given in marriage by her father.

Her wedding gown of shimmering whisper taffeta featured a full hooped skirt with flowing cathedral train and a basque bodice, with scalloped V-neckline and lily point sleeves. Alencon lace and iridescent sequins accented the neckline and lace was repeated at waist and sides of skirt.

A dainty tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones set in leaf design held a silk illusion veil.

The bride carried a mauve orchid and red rose streamers set on a white Bible.

Coral toned gowns of silk organza over taffeta were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. B. Noble, and bridesmaid, Miss Judy Parsons. White carnations were in their bouquets.

Groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Schaddelee, 1259 Revercomb Place.

Acting as best man was A. T. Schaddelee, while Kees Schaddelee and Maarten Schaddelee ushered.

Guests were received after the wedding at a reception in Holyrood House where arrangements of tulips and daffodils decorated the tables. Bride's uncle, J. P. Alexander, proposed the toast.

For travelling, Mrs. Schaddelee donned a raspberry-toned wool and mohair walking suit and a white hat of draped satin.

Christened with the names Michael John, on Sunday in Centennial United Church, was the 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted E. Hobbs, 3380 Woodburn Avenue, pictured here with his mother, his sister Winona, five years, and brother, Arthur, three. Dr. S. Parsons officiated at the ceremony. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Mawer, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. Roy Hobbs and the late Mrs. Hobbs, all of Victoria. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Bulmer. Following the ceremony a luncheon was held at the home of the baby's parents.

Visitor Overcomes Polio

No one could have a greater test for living than Mrs. R. McC. Samples, wife of the director of the United Kingdom Information Services in Canada, who is in the city today.

She's travelling with her husband on a month's tour of the western provinces with an average day that begins at 8 a.m. and usually ends around midnight.

With such an itinerary, Mrs. Samples tries to rest at least for one hour a day. Paralyzed to a great extent by polio, this is the one indulgence she allows herself.

It was in Bombay that polio struck her down. "I first contracted it on Christmas Day and within a week I was completely paralyzed and could neither see nor swallow. By the time the peak was reached I was so terribly glad to be alive—and have felt that way ever since."

She was flown back to England in April and it wasn't until a year later that she was again able to join her husband and their two boys, Graeme and Bill, in India.

Once there, she busied herself with a pet project, that of promoting handicrafts of the Indian people. As a member of the Delhi Commonwealth Women's Associations, she gathered handicrafts from all over the country and displayed them in Delhi. Proceeds were used by the association to adopt a child and provide for its education.

Altogether the Samples spent eight and one-half years in India and two and one-half in Pakistan. Says this sunnynatured woman, "I probably have more friends there than anywhere else."

Now living in Ottawa, Mrs. Samples puts in a busy day looking after her home and family and acting as hostess at innumerable dinner parties. "Our parties," she says, "are never very large. We like to entertain 12 or 16 people at a time. Sometimes, though, there's as many as 24."

All the cooking is done by this courageous woman. She says, "It probably takes me 10 times as long but I just love to cook."

R. O. MUNSON

A new concept in hearing-aid design has been announced by Maico Electronics, Inc., pioneer hearing research and manufacturing firm, through its local dealer, R. O. Munson & Co., 640 Fort Street, Victoria, B.C.

A new six-transistor hearing-aid model, designated the "Escort," is the first of its small size to use "push-pull" type input and output stages, similar to the circuitry used in high-fidelity and other quality sound systems. Maico engineers say that the application is the first in which this circuitry has been miniaturized for use in a small behind-the-ear hearing aid.

The "Escort," weighing just over one-half ounce, is held in place by a tiny transparent tube which carries amplified sound to the ear. It features increased power and clarity, and offers correction of more-severe hearing losses than could formerly be helped by at-the-ear models, according to Mr. Munson. The new aid is one of 12 models currently offered by Maico dealers. They include hearing glasses, ear-level models, and "conventional" units worn in a pocket or concealed in a hairdo.

Although designed for full-time use, behind-the-ear aids have become quite popular with persons who have difficulty hearing at certain times, in church, theatre, or in a group conversation. The small aids can be carried in a pocket and slipped into place as easily as putting on eye-glasses. Industry spokesmen report an increasing trend toward this type of aid.

Mr. Munson has just returned from Seattle, Wash., where he attended a regional meeting of Maico dealers.

Local offices are located on the Ground Floor, 640 Fort Street. Telephone EV 3-2436.

Best Play, Best Actor Awards Captured by L. Cowichan Club

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lake Cowichan Drama Club's presentation of the sixteenth century comedy "The Three Cuckolds" was chosen Saturday night as the top play in the B.C. Regional Drama Festival here.

The Vancouver Island group won out over three other groups.

Adrian Pecknold, who played the male lead—Aricchino—was selected for the best performance by an actor.

The best director in the festival was Ian Thorne, of the Vancouver Little Theatre Association and John Hardinge was selected for the best performance by a player in a supporting role.

The best presentation of a drama exclusive of the winning play went to the V.L.T.A. for Rodney Ackland's "Crime and Punishment" as did the award for the best visual production.

ADRIAN PECKNOLD... the tops

No award was made for the best performance by an actress.

The selections were made by adjudicator Norma Springfield, a producer with the Mountain Playhouse of Montreal.

WINNER CHEERED

The announcement of the winning play drew a large cheer from the audience of about 500.

Cuckolds was adapted from an original scenario of the Commedia Dell'arte by Leon Katz.

The players were characterized by costumes and masks and several were required to exhibit talents in both mime and acrobatics.

Pecknold's diversified abilities drew accolades from Miss Springfield and she said his mimicry "reminded me of Marcel Marceau (world-famous French mimic)."

She also applauded director Yvonne Green for showing great imagination in her approach.

Farmers Grateful

Cowichan Agricultural Society will not join the ranks of those protesting the increase of gasoline tax.

In common with many other member bodies of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture the society feels the provincial government has been "reasonable in its attitude towards farm fuel problems."

It would be most ungrateful to fight the 3c tax boost which does not apply to colored gas for agricultural use, members agreed.

Three Appointed To Lay Plans For Sewer System

CROFTON — A three-man committee has been appointed by Crofton Ratepayers' Association to prepare plans for a sewer system to serve this area.

E. Alexander, H. Brown and W. Gray will study the area with Reeve Donald C. Morton and have a number of proposals to offer the association for discussion.

A second committee consisting of G. F. Crockett, M. J. McKenna, and A. Carlson will make a survey of street lighting in Crofton, which is claimed to be inadequate.

New officers of the association are Robert Dunlop, president; S. Baker, secretary; M. F. Vauthrin, R. A. Vye, and Mr. Crockett, directors. On the water board are R. A. Rennie, Mr. Vauthrin, and Mr. Vye.

Mr. Wellburn has held post since 1942. His successor is Ken G. Boyd of Nanaimo.

Fire Underground

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass said Saturday a tremendous underground coal fire that has been burning 10 years on the Arctic island of Novaya Sibir (New Siberia) now covers 500 to 600 square miles. The island is uninhabited. The Soviet news agency said the blaze probably will go on burning for years.

ON MACHINERY PARTS

Back CCF Bill Socrad Advised

(From Duncan Bureau)

Directors of Cowichan Agricultural Society took an unusual step at a weekend meeting when they approved a resolution asking Agriculture Minister Frank Richter to support a bill proposed by an opposition member.

Proposed by James Rhodes, CCF member for Delta, it would ensure that replacement parts for farm machinery would be kept for a period of 10 years from date of sale, and that there would be two places in the province where such parts could be obtained.

CULL COWS

The society will complain to Dr. A. B. Kidd, B.C. livestock commissioner, of a recent auction sale of cattle in Nanaimo. Members claim that while it was advertised as a dispersal sale, it actually was a sale of cull cows from a Victoria herd.

Committees named by president Grant Loveseth will have the following chairmen: J. A. F. Mutter, finance; K. G. Jameson, plowing match; John Hulbert, dairy products; Donald C. Morton, 4-H clubs; Archie Stevenson, exhibition board; A. W. F. Evans, sheep; M. M. Moir, swine; T. D. Groves, beef cattle; Ridley Wilson, artificial insemination; Miss M. B. Waldon, SPCA; C. J. Williams, Chamber of Commerce; Stanley Owens, field crops.

Colleges Boost Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian universities boosted salaries to their teaching staffs an average of 5.3 per cent in the current academic year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The average salary of 17 universities of all teaching staffs from lecturers to deans is $8,404. The bureau said this is 12.9 per cent higher than two years ago.

Ancient Anchor Derricked

Big Business In Oysters

At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH (CP)—There's an expanding market for oysters, a succulent seafood which sells itself without publicity gadgets, says Peter Lemberes, manager and partner in the Thetis Island Oyster Company here.

Ten years ago his company shipped 6,000 gallons of shucked oysters to markets across Western Canada. Last year shipments jumped to 10,000 gallons and the demand goes up each year.

The increased demand is good news to Ladysmith where oyster culture is big business with several companies located in its inner harbor.

Its plant is modern but no machine has been invented for shucking oysters. This job still is done by the skilful handling of an oyster knife, a short stocky tool wielded with ease by the experienced operator but dangerous in the hands of an amateur.

GOOD GROWING AREAS

The company's cabin cruiser, Helen, brings in oysters by the scowload from the hard-growing grounds at nearby Thetis Island and Crofton and other cultivation areas.

It is estimated that any oyster drinks from 45 to 50 gallons of water a day. Occasionally, it picks up a little sand and the result in these waters is called a "blister pearl." It's of little or no commercial value but when one of the table oysters—they're from a different species than the pearl oyster—pops a batch of blisters it causes quite a stir.

Recently one oyster turned out 175 blister pearls, a record for the plant.

NANAIMO—A four-ton anchor believed to be 100 to 125 years old is on its way to Holland aboard Mv. Dongedyk.

The big anchor, close to eight feet long and of the type known as the "common" anchor, became fouled in the anchor of the Dutch ship at Departure Bay, well known resort area and sheltered mooring immediately north of here.

The hook undoubtedly was left behind by one of the innumerable sailing ships which arrived at Departure Bay in the 1870s and 1880s to load coal from the Wellington mines.

LASHED TO DECK

Covered with rust and barnacles, the relic was lashed to the foredeck of the ship for the voyage.

He Can Fight But Can't Go Into Pub

Old enough to fight for his country but too young to enter a drinking establishment.

The situation irked 18-year-old Kenneth Bryan Chamberlain when he appeared in Courtenay police court Saturday.

"The army, navy and air force allow me to drink. Why won't civilians?" the sailor asked.

"It's the statutes of the land," replied Magistrate John Ryland, and fined the youth $20.

Four Climbers Reach 'Impossible' Summit

WINNER of Metropolitan Opera Company's northwestern regional auditions, Heather Thompson, 20-year-old Vancouver soprano will compete in New York for $2,000 scholarship, and Met contract. (CP Photo.)

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP) — Four daredevil climbers from Germany and Austria reached the summit of Eiger Mountain Sunday on the first winter ascent of the perilous mile-high north wall.

The four who completed the ascent, after six days and six nights on the ice-covered wall, are Toni Hiebeler, Toni Kinshofer and Andreas Mannhardt of Munich, and Austrian Walter Almburger. Hundreds watched them through telescopes from this Alpine resort at the foot of the north face.

The climbers started last Monday, working their way slowly and carefully up the highest rocky wall in the Alps, one of the most dangerous and difficult climbs in the world.

IS HAVE DIED

At least 18 climbers have lost their lives trying to beat Eiger's north face. All previous attempts have been made in summer when rock, ice and snow avalanches continually fall down the almost vertical north face.

There are no avalanches in winter, when the snowy fields are frozen and the ice firmly holds loose rocks in the wall. But no one has dared tackle the wall in the bitter winter cold which saps the strength and calls for slower climbing and heavier packs.

The four spent the first night in so-called "difficult" crevices. In nylon sleeping bags, standing up and secured to the rocks with steel hooks and ropes. The ensuing five nights were spent the same way but at increasingly higher altitudes.

Before "retiring" each night they had a meal of dried vegetables and coffee or tea heated on a gasoline cooker and dried fruit for dessert.

They spent Saturday night dug into snowy patches in a vertical icy couloir above the "white spider," an almost vertical block of ice about 1,300 feet from the summit. The spider is about 600 feet high and the point of no return. They passed it Saturday afternoon.

This is the most difficult part of the wall. Three men lost their lives there four years ago.

66% Jobless Lack Basic Education

OTTAWA (CP)—The relationship between employment and education is the most important of nine studies being prepared for the 1962 Canadian Conference on Education, a conference report said today.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 delegates representing 74 national organizations are expected at the Toronto meeting next Feb. 18-22.

"The emerging relationship between employability, and schooling is frightening," Kurt R. Swinton of Toronto, the conference national committee chair, told a press conference.

"Two-thirds of our unemployed have less than an elementary education. What is more ominous, half of those now employed live under the same potential handicap," he said.

Labor Minister Starr said the unemployment study affects every Canadian and must be met at every government level.

"Any unemployed persons who can benefit by training must be given the opportunity to prepare for continuously changing employment requirements."

SPECIAL EDUCATION SERIES

Earlier Start Desirable But Expensive

These questions from Times readers and the answers supplied through a special teachers' committee, conclude the National Education Week series of columns presented by The Times with the co-operation of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association:

QUESTION: Why does the learning process not begin at the age of five?

ANSWER: It is a proven fact that the reading readiness of a six-year-old is more developed than that of the five-year-old. Taxpayers complain now of the total cost of education wherein a child starts at age six.

Desirable as it is, to have a five-year-old in pre-primary, it seems most unlikely that taxpayers would be willing to pay the added cost in order to accommodate all children.

QUESTION: Why is there so little or no physical education until high school?

ANSWER: There is a full program of physical education existing in our elementary schools. Normally three 30-minute periods are given each week. In addition inter-school games are held at noon and after school for students in Grades 4, 5 and 6.

Elementary school children receive instruction in activities and stunts, rhythms and folk dance, gymnastics, activities with balls, hoops, bean bags, and ropes, group games and team games. (Swimming is given to all Grade 5 children in Victoria.)

The physical education program may not be as extensive at the elementary school level as at the junior high school level for the following two reasons:

1. Elementary teachers have to teach all subjects to their class; therefore, training in PE is not as extensive as that of the physical education specialist of the secondary school.

2. If the physical education is taken in the classroom, activities have to be restricted. Even with an activity-room the large elementary school cannot schedule three periods per class in one week.

QUESTION: Should a child who has no interest in art or music be forced to study these subjects?

ANSWER: The creative activities of our society must be perpetuated and strengthened, or we allow its pragmatic facets to completely outstrip the aesthetic, the spiritual and the cultural.

To expose our youth to as much of the arts as possible will help achieve such an aim.

Properly approached, the teaching of art, music and other creative activities can only lead to growth through acquisition of psychological and democratic "fringe benefits." Where else in the curricula may these advantages be found so abundantly?

ZANIEST WHIRL SINCE PARADING GOATS

Amorous, Defiant Judge Has Seattle in a Tizzy

SEATTLE (AP)—The voice on the telephone, the young housewife testified, said in effect: "This is Judge Simmons. Come down to my office and we'll talk about the traffic ticket."

Mrs. Betty Adams did, and it led to the zaniest civil whirl Seattle has witnessed since a candidate for mayor paraded the straggs leading a goat and dressed as Mohandas Gandhi.

The furor over traffic Judge William H. Simmons, 32, has been diverting the citizenry here for months. Last week the legal manoeuvres in the city's efforts to get rid of Simmons because he was convicted of attempted assault on Mrs. Adams left the average person hard put to keep up.

As the week ended Simmons was fighting a contempt citation for refusing to give up his office, complaining of "judicial tyranny" and promising to appeal "all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court."

Simmons was arrested for contempt Thursday when he ignored a Superior Court injunction to stay away from his courtroom. He refused to accept offers of bail and spent that night in jail.

WILL APPEAL

Friday the determined judge was found guilty of the contempt charges. His lawyers announced they would appeal to the state Supreme Court and Simmons was freed on $1,000 bond.

The handsome young judge, married and with two children, was charged last July with second degree assault.

Mrs. Adams testified she wrote Simmons—at suggestion of a court clerk—about the $30 fine for going 45 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

She said the telephone call followed and she went to see Simmons with her husband's approval.

"I went in the judge's chambers to talk about the ticket," she testified. "He said 'Forget about that, let's go have a highball'."

They did, and later went to an apartment.

"I thought I could trust him," she told the jury, "because he was a judge."

STOPPED BY SCREAM

In the apartment, she said, he attempted to disrobe her but let her go when she screamed.

Simmons readily admitted it was his intention to make love, but said he thought Mrs. Adams had the same idea.

Former GI Executed

HAVANA (AP)—A Cuban firing squad Saturday night executed William A. Morgan, former United States GI accused of conspiring against the revolutionary Castro regime that once hailed him as a hero.

His aide, Maj. Jesus Carreras was executed immediately afterward.

"forget about it."

The judge sentenced Simmons to 10 years in prison, suspended on condition he resign within 48 hours. Simmons refused.

Simmons, who had let acting judges sit in since his conviction, resumed the traffic court bench.

The city council declared the office vacant and the mayor appointed another judge.

Simmons went right on hearing traffic cases.

First up was a lawyer charged with a traffic violation.

"Move to dismiss for want of diligent prosecution," he said, noting the city attorney was not in court.

"Motion granted," said Simmons, and went on to dismiss cases wholesale.

Defendants without counsel caught on quickly and made their dismissal motions on the same grounds. A couple got mixed and said "lack of diligent prosecution." One had it "lack of diligent prostitution." Simmons dismissed 108 cases in all. One defendant insisted on pleading guilty.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Kathleen Boyd, age 12, of Fairburn, Ga., for her question:

What is mica?

The name mica, which means glittering, is given to a whole family of amazing minerals. Most of the large slabs of mica are buried among the hard rocks of the earth's crust. But you may be lucky enough to find it peeping through the surface rocks in the Appalachian Mountains and in certain regions among the Rockies. You may catch sight of it from afar, glinting in the sunlight like a lost cache of jewels.

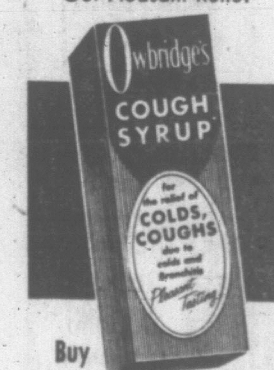

Your discovery may be a shiny, flat slab of a mineral that reminds you of water. It may be clear, as pure spring water tinted some shade, or brown like muddy creek water or black as the water you see when you look down into a deep well. As you hold it in your hand, you may also think ing is actually small flakes of mica. It also occurs in granites, looking somewhat like a sprinkling of captured stardust. It occurs, often like grains of sparkling white sugar, through pink and lavender lumps of lepidolite, which is an ore of the metal lithium. Mica also comes in pale yellow, honey color and deep amber. Some forms are deep rose, some are green and some pearly grey.

Mixed With Other Rocks

IT HAPPENED
LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sitting in Virginia Gilmore's handsome, ranch-sized West Side apartment the other day, I noticed some silver cigarette cases which obviously belonged to her ex-husband Yul Brynner because they bore the initials "Y.B."

"You've still got some Y.B. around?" I remarked with what I hoped was a casual tone.

"Oh yes, it's been so long since I used any other initials—but I've started!" And bouncing up, she trotted into a bedroom and then back displaying some pillow cases and sheets with the initials "V.G."

"I plan to keep these quite a while," Virginia Gilmore said.

"MRS. BALDY"

The new initials—or the return to her old initials—are a symbol of her new life, her comeback on Broadway in "Critic's Choice" in which she plays Henry Fonda's "other wife"—looking so youthful in the role that few people ever think of her as having been "Mrs. Baldy" for 17 years.

For 10 years she didn't work.

That was about the period since Brynner shaved his head for "The King and I."

"But you'd probably like to talk about other things," I said.

"I sure would!" Miss Gilmore, shapely in nicely-fitting slacks, confessed that she'll probably marry again—"Why not? Live dangerously!"

SOAP OPERA

Last year she did a TV soap opera—she could earn $1,000 a week if she could memorize five half-hour scripts a week.

And she could but "Edge of the Knife," as it was called, left her with little time for living. She was still Mrs. Yul Brynner (there we go—back to him again)—that when people said "Miss Gilmore," she probably walked right on.

"But now I answer promptly," she assured me.

I would have been kicked out of the Interviewers' Union if I hadn't asked how she liked bald men—now—and she said, "Oh jeepers—I don't know—it doesn't matter of course—I never think of Yul as bald, because when I met him he had hair."

Laughingly, she said, "He's been shaving his head for the longest time—but he didn't need to bother! Because he didn't have much left."

"Oh come, now," I demurred.

STOP NOW

"I used to tell him when he shaved it. You can stop shaving now..." But he didn't want to hear it.

"I guess when men get that age they like to think there's hair there but there isn't."

"DON'T PRINT THAT!" A TV entertainer refused to do a benefit show for the favorite charity of a Manhattan judge.

"Not for him," snapped the star, "...he married me to my first wife!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Restaurateur Nicky Blair says there are three kinds of customers: "The before-the-theatre crowd, the after-the-theatre crowd and the drinkers, who are the forget-me-theatre crowd."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Summer must be almost here—Walter Slezak's neighbor returned his bottle of cough medicine and borrowed his suntan lotion.

GOLDEN GIRL — Sculptor Dan Dolin thought a gilded statue of Marilyn Monroe, slightly larger than life-size, would be a nice item for the new Motion Picture Television Museum in Hollywood. However the museum isn't in existence yet so the statue is in the office of Los Angeles County official Ernest Debs.

Logging Tax Amendments 'Won't Hurt'

The legislature was assured Friday that amendments to the Logging-Tax Act contained in Bill 18 will not mean higher taxation for the forest industry.

Premier Bennett gave the assurance as the House gave second reading—approval in principle—to the legislation.

There was little discussion of the bill. The premier said present logging tax assessments will continue but to assure they apply as intended and that large, integrated companies have no unfair advantage over small loggers, the new legislation might have to be made retroactive to 1957.

"I hope it will not be necessary to make it retroactive," he said. "But it will not result in an additional taxation on the forest industry and there will be no new assessments."

The taxes involved, he said, have for the most part been paid. The move was chiefly one of protecting money already collected in case of appeals.

Jailed 10 Years

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Robert Skin, 47, of Burns Lake, was sentenced here Friday to 10 years in prison on a reduced charge of manslaughter.

Skin was originally charged with murder in connection with the death last August of Jimmy Andrew at Southbank, 14 miles south of Burns Lake.

Any failure on the part of Canada's churches is due almost entirely to the "smugness and complacency" of lay members, a four-person panel agreed Sunday night in Centennial United Church.

Fund Drive Planned By UN Group

United Nations model assembly at Victoria High School last month was a complete success except in the field of finance.

R. D. Broughton, secretary of the local branch of the UN Association, which sponsored the event, said the assembly has placed the association "in the red to the tune of $300."

He said the debt resulted mostly from the fact Greater Victoria School Board charged the association $98 for only limited use of Victoria High School.

To finance this and other projects an appeal for funds will be made to the public starting April 10. On that date a national campaign will also start across the country.

$2,000 ON V.I.

J. S. Willis of Toronto, manager of the national campaign, visiting Victoria, said the UN Association is hoping to raise $50,000 in Canada, $2,000 of it on Vancouver Island.

"Most of the money collected will be spent here," he said. Interest in the work of the United Nations is increasing rapidly in Canada, Mr. Willis said.

"By organizing local projects we are trying to create a greater interest in the United Nations Organization," he said. "Too many people maintain an apathetic attitude, they don't understand what the UN is trying to do."

"If we can show other nations that the people of Canada take an active interest in the UN and are not just acquiescent in its affairs it will do a lot of good," he said.

Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of B.C. Power Commission, will lead the UN association campaign in B.C.

MARCH 20

Next meeting of the local branch will be at 8 p.m., March 20, in the music room of Victoria Public Library. Speaker will be Mrs. Pearl Steen, a native of Victoria and past president of the Women's Canadian Club.

She was appointed by the federal government as one of its delegates to the 15th general assembly in New York and served on the third committee at UN headquarters from September to November last year.

Kelowna To Honor Bennett

KELOWNA (CP)—A testimonial dinner in honor of Premier Bennett will be held at the Aquatic Club here April 4.

It will be in recognition of the premier's "public service and in appreciation of his obvious interest in the welfare of the interior of this province," Mayor R. F. Parkinson said today.

The dinner will be sponsored by the city of Kelowna and the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce. Mayors and reeves of adjacent municipalities and presidents of neighboring chambers of commerce have been invited.

Premier Bennett, a freeman of the city of Kelowna, has been active in Okanagan business life for the last 30 years.

NO A-WEAPONS NEEDED YOUNG TORIES DECIDE

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Young Conservatives resolved at their annual meeting here Saturday that Canada needs no nuclear weapons at present.

The resolution will be sent to the federal government, urging it to steer clear of the nuclear arms race "until such time as there is a grave deterioration in international affairs."

The association will also ask the government to accord full recognition to Communist China.

Saanich Meeting On Central School

Central Saanich Ratepayers' Association will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in Saanich Agricultural Hall to consider a proposal by directors for construction of one central high school for School District 63 rather than additions to existing schools.

K. E. Stanlake, president, said the two plans were put forward by trustees at a public meeting this week. The scheme for one new high school would have a higher initial cost, but lower operating cost and greater efficiency, he said.

RUSSIA MAY RELEASE U-2 PILOT SAYS PAPER

LONDON (AP)—A London newspaper said Sunday that imprisoned United States U-2 pilot Gary Powers soon may be released by the Soviet Union.

The Sunday Pictorial said Powers had been advised by his Soviet attorneys to apply for a review of his prison sentence on May 1—exactly one year after his reconnaissance plane came down deep inside the U.S.S.R.

He received a 10-year sentence on spy charges.

Bank Wasn't Hoisted—It Was Jacked

MONTREAL (CP)—Burglars, with the help of a giant construction jack capable of lifting a medium-sized house, looted between 25 and 85 safety deposit boxes Sunday from a branch of the provincial bank of Canada in suburban, L'Abord-a-Plouffe.

The bank's manager, Guy

Lacouture, said he had no idea how much was stolen.

Provincial police detectives described the robbery as an "expert job".

They said they believe the gang was at work when the bank's alarm system went off at 3:05 a.m.

L'Abord-a-Plouffe radio police responded to the alarm, checked the bank's doors, looked in the interior and found everything in order.

The alarm was faulty and had gone off before when all was in order at the bank. Police said the gang gained entry to the basement of the bank through a side door.

Investigation showed the jack was placed directly beneath a vault, the steel bar balanced on top and then, by raising the jack, the bar forced through the reinforced concrete floor of the bank.

Nearly 219,000 men, women and children of all ages participated in Canadian Red

Cross water safety services and projects last year.

TWISTERS HIT U.S. MIDWEST

CHICAGO (AP)—A turbulent storm raked the Midwest with damaging and heavy rains today after spawning more than a score of tornadoes which smashed paths of destruction throughout Missouri and Arkansas.

One woman was killed and at least 37 persons were injured Sunday.

Island Youth Dies, 2 Saved In Fierce Mountain Blizzard

Relentless Assault by a Sea of Fury

Wild grandeur of froth-whipped waves cascading over the Dallas Road seawall Sunday was beautiful but dangerous. Tons of water flooded Ross Bay portion of the road during the strong gale and police erected barricades to divert traffic over safer routes. Clover Point, from which this photo was taken, was jammed with traffic during the afternoon as motorists went sightseeing.

74 mph Winds Deliver Jarring One-Two Punch

By JOHN MIKA

Southern Vancouver Island was stunned Sunday by a furious windstorm that battered the coast with a right cross-left hook combination.

Wind gusts hit up to 74 miles per hour from the southwest during the morning and up to 71 mph from the southwest in the afternoon.

As the weather office predicted a second furious round was coming up, residents and officials reported:

● The "worst" trouble-plagued period in 10 years for B.C. Electric repair crews;

● Some 300 trouble calls being cleaned up by B.C. Telephone Company workmen after five trunk cables were restored to service;

● A 175-foot-long concrete block wall smashed by a powerful gust;

● Beachcombing banned at Cadboro Bay where about 400 logs piled up after breaking away from a log boom;

● A 10,000-ton freighter narrowly missed smashing into the Ogden Point docks as heavy seas broke all its mooring lines;

● A tree squashed a vacant car and others toppled over on to a house roof;

● Barricades were used to block off the Ross Bay stretch of Dallas Road as tons of water vaulted the sea wall to flood the pavement.

Another Storm Expected Tonight

"We're between storm today," said weatherman William Mackie. "The next storm will be much the same with the winds starting to rise tonight."

He predicted southeast winds averaging 35 to 40 m.p.h. and gusting overnight and Tuesday morning followed by southwest winds averaging 40 to 45 m.p.h. in the afternoon.

A B.C. Electric official said Sunday was the worst experienced by the company in 10 years.

Trouble calls began pouring in at 9 a.m. from the Cordova Bay, Gordon Head, Albert

Head, Telegraph Bay and Prospect Lake areas and city points too.

All available men were sent out. Most problems were solved by 4 p.m. when the wind shifted and a second onslaught hit power wires.

Trouble calls then began pouring in from the Metchosin, Sooke, Langford, Colwood and Finlayson Arm areas as brittle tree branches broke and fell by the hundreds.

The BCE switchboard was swamped from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. as primary and secondary power circuits were broken.

A B.C. Telephone official said seven extra men were out helping Monday crews clean up a backlog of 300 trouble calls this morning.

Boom Smashed

About 400 logs were washed up on the beach when 15 sections of a 75-section log boom broke away in Cadboro Bay. B.C. forestry service announced.

MOBUTU TROOPS GRAB LUMUMBIST FORCES

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian radio reported troops of Gen. Joseph Mobutu captured three platoons of the Lumumbist army today in Ikela and Mondombe, near the border of Oriental province.

The radio said one platoon was disbanded in Mondombe. Two were captured in Ikela, last stronghold on the road to Stanleyville, capital of the Lumumbist-controlled Oriental province.

Mondombe and Ikela, although in Equator province, were occupied by Lumumbist troops.

Wild Congolese Make Nuns Strip

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Nuns were stripped and one American missionary girl was raped by Congolese soldiers on the rampage in the rebel province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

UN-Malayan patrols are pushing out from Kindu, trying to reach isolated villages where whites are at the mercy of the Congolese soldiers.

"We've got to reach all these people," said a UN official. "We have reason to believe that in many cases it is a matter of life or death."

Six Belgians and four other whites, believed to be Portuguese, were flown here from Kivu Sunday. All were badly beaten, the UN spokesman said. They told of daily beatings in the streets, pillaging and threats of execution.

One report said an American missionary girl was beaten and raped by four Congolese soldiers and told she will not be allowed to leave Kivu.

A nun reaching Kindu from a mission station at Kasongo told of 48 hours of terror, rape and bestiality soon after the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba last month. The nun said nine sisters from the mission were bundled into trucks and carted off to the local jail.

A 75-year-old nun said she was thrown out of the truck and had her arms broken and her shoulder dislocated. She has reached Leopoldville.

In a prison courtyard, the nuns were made to dance barefoot on stones and gravel, singing hymns to Lumumba.

Then they were locked up in a room for the night with three Congolese soldiers. They were made to lie on the ground and strip off their clothes.

"They did not rape us but they did things so disgusting to our poor bodies that we dare not speak of them, much less write of them," one nun said.

Two other white women also were at the same prison and throughout the night their cries could be heard by the nuns.

A priest identified as Father Gerry of the White Fathers was beaten from 5 p.m. until 2 o'clock the next morning.

The next morning the nuns were freed and allowed back to their mission stations.

Scout Tragedy On Mt. Brenton

A 19-year-old Rover Scout died Saturday night in a blizzard on the slopes of Mount Brenton, near Chemainus, while rescue teams in a warm shelter less than one-half mile away prepared to search for him.

Dead is Donald Anderson, 19, of Saltair, near Ladysmith, one of a three-man party which planned to spend the day in a hike to Silver Lake, near Mount Brenton.

In Chemainus General Hospital is David Thomas, 20, Chemainus, reported in poor condition today as a result of severe exposure and frostbitten feet.

Third member of the party, Robert McGregor, 18, suffered no ill effects from his ordeal.

Irony twist to the tragedy is that the outing was being taken as part of McGregor's qualification as a Rover Scout. The other two men already were Rovers, and his sponsors on the trip.

Ski Club Members Win Praise

Sole credit for the rescue effort, conducted over a 24-hour period in winds that blew constantly at from 40 to 50 miles per hour, went to Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club, which has a lodge on Mount Brenton.

"The Sno-Birds were everywhere and did everything," said Cpl. M. G. Low of Chemainus RCMP detachment.

The ill-fated venture started Saturday when the three set off on the trip by which McGregor would prove himself as a Rover. Their equipment was reported as good, but they had only two pairs of snowshoes between the three of them, and snow proved deep with no crust.

By Saturday afternoon they ran into the full force of a blinding blizzard, which dumped 4½ feet of snow on the area, dropped temperatures below freezing, and stung them with 50-mile winds.

McGregor said after the rescue that when the temperature dropped they decided to try for the Sno-Birds lodge about three miles away. They all knew it well from their experience on previous hikes, he said.

"Dave was without snowshoes, so Don decided to try for the lodge himself. After he left us Dave and I continued on. The snow was so deep Dave couldn't continue, so he decided to build a shelter while I went after Don."

'The Wind Was Just Murder'

"When I found him he was tired. I decided to go ahead at a fast rate to get to the lodge before nightfall. He said 'Okay' and agreed to follow at his own speed. The wind was just murder with gusts up to 65 miles an hour."

"One of his snowshoes had fallen off when they found him just 300 yards below the lodge. He had fallen asleep. I told him not to. I warned him to keep moving."

"If he had just looked up, he would have seen the lodge lights and he could have called for help."

"Rescuers attempted to revive him, but couldn't. 'I felt just terrible.'"

First the 25 Sno-Birds at the lodge for the weekend knew of the tragedy was when McGregor arrived there exhausted at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

Anton "Toni" Lamprecht, 35, of 5003 Prospect Lake Road, who grew up in Austria and has lived here nine years, said it was 30 minutes before McGregor was able to tell them what had happened.

"He was exhausted and delirious," he said. "Finally he was able to explain to me where Anderson was, and that there was a third man on the trail too."

"When we knew where to go, Manfred Schil, Tony Sayle, Bill Vercher, Brian Saunders, Jack McKellan, a fellow called 'Frank' from Qualicum, and myself set out on our skis."

"I think Anderson was gone when we found him. It is hard to tell—you find someone, you try to revive him, and you think he has a chance. You think you hear him breathing. We put him on a toboggan and took him to the lodge, but I think now he was gone when we first got to him."

"A nurse, Lyn Phillips (Miss Marilyn Phillips, 4136 Wilkinson Road, Victoria, operating room nurse at Royal Jubilee Hospital) took over

Malaya Blasts S. Africa

LONDON (CP)—Commonwealth leaders blasted South Africa's racial segregation policy today as the prime ministers' conference entered its most critical phase.

Conference sources said Malayan Prime Minister Prince Abdul Rahman made a vehement condemnation of apartheid in a discussion of South Africa's application to remain a member of the Commonwealth when it becomes a republic May 31.

Canada, Pakistan, India, Ceylon, Ghana, Malaya and Nigeria also joined in the criticism of the South African government policy, the sources said.

The discussion came after the prime ministers had admitted Cyprus as the 13th member of the Commonwealth. A message was sent immediately to Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios inviting him to fly to London to join the talks.

READ STATEMENT

Conference sources said Rahman read a 15-page statement in condemning apartheid. He told the meeting that the Commonwealth must be based on common ideas and principles which include respect for human rights and rule out racial discrimination.

The debate is expected to continue Tuesday, giving Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd time to reply in detail of the charges against South Africa.

Also before the conference is an application for membership from Sierra Leone after

Spy Trial Under Way In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Britain charged today at the opening of the most sensational spy case in a decade that an espionage ring stole key naval secrets and sent them by short wave radio to Moscow.

The five accused pleaded innocent. Two of the defendants were Peter John Kroger, 50, a book seller and owner of a shabby cottage in suburban Ruislip which the prosecution said served as the transmission centre, and his wife, Helen, 47.

The Crown moved swiftly against the five who were brought before the bar of justice at London's Old Bailey court.

GREATER VICTORIA HAILS CHAMPION SMOKE EATERS

See Page 8

Greater Victoria's civic chiefs wired congratulations to Trail today hailing the world hockey championship victory won by Trail Smoke Eaters Sunday.

The wire, addressed to Trail Mayor L. A. Read, said:

"Heartiest congratulations from the people of Greater Victoria on the splendid victory of the Trail hockey team."

It was signed by Mayor Percy Scarrab, Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

More than 300 fans Sunday afternoon held a special meeting in Trail to prepare a jubilant welcome home for their team.

The Smoke Eaters downed Russia 5-1 in Geneva to take the title, the second time Trail has won the international hockey title.

Among the first acts of a special committee formed to set welcome plans in motion was to invite Premier W. A. C. Bennett to officially welcome the Smoke Eaters.

Meanwhile, the committee also asked general manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens to apologize for remarks made a week ago on a television program that Trail had no chance whatsoever of winning the world title.

Hoffa Asks Equal Pay to Canadians

TORONTO (CP)—James Hoffa has committed himself and the resources of his 1,700,000-member union to bridging the wage gap between Canadian truckers and their United States counterparts.

The president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Ind.) said here Saturday the trucking industry will have to face him personally when it sits down to bargain with the Teamsters for a new agreement this year.

Mr. Hoffa was here for a gathering of 1,500 Teamster members and their wives. He said at a press conference after the dinner meeting that it may take a while to eliminate the wage differentials between Canada and the United States, but the union will use its economic strength to do so.

A Canadian trucker wheeling his transport to Detroit earns $1.92 an hour in Canada, but gets $3.02 when he crosses the bridge to the United States, Mr. Hoffa said.

CLAIMS PERSECUTION
In his speech and press conference, Mr. Hoffa pictured himself as a victim of persecution by anti-labor forces aroused by the economic strength of the union and the expanding personal security of the Teamster membership.

Asked whether he expected any change of relations with the United States government under the administration of President Kennedy, he said:

"They won't change their method to please me and I won't change mine to please them. I wrestled with them for three years and I can do it some more."

He dismissed a question about corrupt elements in his union with:

"There is a percentage of problem cases in every segment of society. We had our percentage and it's less by far than certain corporations the executives of which went to jail. We've had only two people jailed."

He Had Lifetime Of Close Shaves

By MICHAEL ROSE

The lather brush stands idle and the razor sits unstrapped but it wasn't always like that. Back near the turn of the century the barbershop was a popular place in Victoria and Stuart MacTaggart was a busy man.

That was in 1911 when the young MacTaggart came out from Boston and now, at 82, he is retiring from the tonorial trade after 68 years of shaving and snipping, 50 of them in Victoria.

"When I first came out here," he said, "nearly every one got shaved in a shop, some of them every day but most just two or three days a week."

HE DUG DEEP

"Saturday was always the busiest day. Then people would come in and get a shave to last them through the weekend."

"You had to dig pretty deep to get some of those cheeks smooth."

From his home at 542 Harbinger, he plans to take up the travelling he abandoned had a century ago.

LATHER BOY

Born in Boston, Mass., of Scottish parents, who brought the art of wool dyeing over with them, McTaggart started out as a lather boy.

This position, extinct now that a barber may only do two shaves a month, was very necessary in those days when crowds of young bucks would all want shaves at once.

HAVE A GO

"There weren't any barber schools then," he said, "and I just kept on lathering customers for other people until one day I was told to have a try at shaving."

DYING ART

"Everyone used a straight razor then and a customer soon knew if you were any good or not."

"Now it's a dying art but it's still the best way to shave."

Burial Plot Sales Law Proposed

Laws to protect the public against unethical sales practices on burial plots are proposed by the B.C. legislature's welfare committee.

The committee, chairman William Speare (S.C.-Cariboo) reported to the House last week, held five meetings to discuss the practice of pre-need sales of graves.

While it recognized the need for this type of deal (usually a time payment plan), the committee suggested a code under which it should operate.

Proposed legislation:

That 88 per cent of the money taken from the public for pre-need plots be put in trust or insured;

That all the money be refunded upon application, including interest, but less a small carrying charge;

That the public be protected against "unsound plans";

That there be regulations against unethical sales practices.

IN TORONTO

Drive Begun By Liberals For Members

TORONTO (CP)—National Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson was scheduled to launch a new membership drive for his party today with a press conference and afternoon and evening speaking engagements.

The membership campaign, described by party officials as a pilot project in the Toronto area which will be spread later to other parts of the country, is an appeal to liberal-minded Canadians to join in "the deliberations, the plans, and the activities" of the party at both federal and provincial level.

New members are being urged to join—with a membership fee of $1—at the riding association level. Mr. Pearson speaks tonight to a rally of five eastern Toronto riding associations.

The slogan for the campaign is: "Help Canada out of the doldrums. Join the Liberal Drive."

Mr. Pearson's Toronto visit followed a weekend of campaigning in southwestern Ontario in the company of Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer. Together they denounced the new 3 per cent provincial sales tax as proof of the failure of Conservative government in Ottawa and Toronto to meet Ontario's financial needs.

RESIGNING from all his remaining offices in the Conservative party is the Marquess of Salisbury, arch-foe of the government's self-government to Africans policy.

you'd call dashing. But Dodge Dart has a new six—an inclined six that has the sort of skedaddle that's raising eyebrows all over the place. Truth is, it gives 20% more power than the old fashioned kind of 6—and it gives this kind of performance on regular gas too! Another plus is that it pampers your thrifty streak. That's because it's the savingest six ever built by Dodge.

'Correction' Stalled Toronto

By Canadian Press

The "correction," which brokers said must come, arrived last week as the stock market for the first time this year, ran into a sizeable setback before recovering near the end of the week.

Both the Toronto and Montreal markets dropped sharply in the first two days of trade, bringing to an end the steady rise which began in both early last November.

At Toronto the industrial index fell five points Monday and Tuesday before showing signs of recovering.

Volume at Toronto was below the average daily turnover of 2,000,000 shares recorded in past sessions. There also was an unusual lack of uniformity in industrial group movements and plus and minus signs were intermingled without any set pattern.

PRESSURE LACK

There seemed to be a lack of pressure among sellers and volume showed a tendency to slide with the lower prices. However, the week's trading once again encompassed a sizeable list of the industrial section, countering the somewhat fewer mining and oil issues.

There was considerable activity in refining oil stocks but most of them tended to move lower. But the opposite was shown in pipe lines with new highs recorded by Trans Prairie and Trans Mountain, the latter trading more than 100,000 shares during the week.

MOVED WITH TREND

Steel ingot production was lower and steel issues on the Toronto industrial board moved along with the lower trend. Papers eased with six of the ten listed issues showing declines while the remaining four advanced slightly. Banks suffered the most with all six issues going down.

Base metals were the only group to buck the losing trend, with senior issues showing the way up. Consolidated Mining and Smelting was among the best winners following the news of an increase of 40 per cent in their 1960 net earnings.

Gold edged lower in light turnover. Western oils relinquished a good deal of their gains from the previous week amid a small turnover.

Airlines Slash Freight Rates

MONTREAL (CP)—Airlines will begin slashing North Atlantic freight rates April 10 and one result probably will be more European markets for North American goods.

The airlines began announcing rates reduced by as much as 60 per cent. They will go into effect when the present International Air Transport Association agreement on cargo rates expires.

UNIVERSITIES, MUNICIPALITIES

Bill Would Force Financial Reports

A new bill designed to give the public more information about the financial status of public bodies received unanimous support in the legislature Friday after considerable criticism from opposition members.

The bill, which was given second reading, would compel 15 different bodies to submit detailed financial statements in the same form as the provincial public accounts.

It refers specifically to the University of British Columbia, Victoria College, the Highways and Toll Bridges Authority, B.C. Hydro, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and the municipalities.

Premier Bennett declared it would "let sunlight" into the financial operation of public bodies. Tony Gargrave (CCF—MacKenzie) said he agreed with the bill in principle, but not in its application. He said it would create extra expense for the municipalities when the information was already available to government authorities.

Alan Macfarlane (Liberal—Oak Bay) said it would open the door to possible state interference with higher education. He suggested the universities and municipalities should be taken out of the bill. "It could create a political football," said John Squire (CCF—Alberni). "Once a financial statement of that kind is issued it would be available to every crackpot in the province."

Mr. Squire said he would not want to see the salaries and expenses of university officials, such as UBC president,

THOMSON BIDS FOR TRINIDAD NEWSPAPERS

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters)—Thomson Newspapers Ltd. of Canada Friday night announced a bid to obtain the controlling interest in Trinidad Publishing Company Ltd.

The publishing firm's directors recommended acceptance of the Thomson offer, which amounts to about $2,500,000.

The company, publishes the morning Trinidad Guardian, the evening News and the Sunday Guardian, and operates a radio station and commercial printing shop.

Labor Income Shows Gain

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor income in Canada increased by 4.2 per cent last year, but the gain rang few bells in retail registers.

Income of Canada's paid workers, in salaries, wages and supplementary labor income, rose to $18,514,000,000 from $17,761,000,000 in 1959, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has estimated.

The year's retail sales reached $16,413,465,000 — a record, but only 0.8 per cent higher than the $16,283,558,000 in retail sales the previous year.

All five regions in Canada showed gains in labor income for the year.

Labor income for 1960 by regions, with percentage gain in brackets: Prairies, $2,744,000,000 (3.9); British Columbia, $1,998,000,000 (4.2).

Directors Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Government appointment of John T. Bryden, Toronto; J. H. Mowbray Jones, Liverpool, N.S.; Brig. Lorraine Patrick, Calgary, and C. Bruce Hill, St. Catharines, Ont., to a three-year term as directors of the Bank of Canada has been announced.

WELFARE CHIEF OPPOSES PLAN

City welfare administrator William Hooson will ask city council to oppose a section of a bill now before the legislature which would require publication of names of persons receiving social assistance.

Publication of the names, he said, would cause only embarrassment, worry and loss of dignity and would serve no useful purpose.

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, "banned around this province," he said, if such financial statements were to be issued, the public should also be told about the salaries and expenses of big business heads.

"Some of the timber companies spend their money pretty freely," he declared. "I am sure some of them spend more than the municipality of Port Alberni would ever think of spending."

Mr. Squire said the larger companies made their money out of B.C.'s natural resources and the public is entitled to know how they operated.

Bert Price (SC—Vancouver Burrard) agreed with the bill but urged that some cheaper form of statement should be devised for municipalities and school boards.

Premier Bennett insisted the government had no intention of interfering in the operations of municipalities or universities.

He called for a division on second reading and laughed when CCF and Liberal members stood in support of the bill.

83,000 WORKERS OFF

Drastic Cutback By Car Industry

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry plans its most drastic production cutback of the year this week.

Faced with a million-car inventory and disappointing sales, Ford, General Motors and Chrysler will send home more than 83,000 workers at 33 plants across the country.

By far the biggest layoffs will be at GM, which will furlough 58,200 workers. Ford will idle 13,400 and Chrysler 11,500. All the layoffs are for one week.

Ward's Automotive Reports said next week's output could drop as much as 20 per cent below the same period of 1958, a recession year.

The statistical agency said the scheduled plant closings mean next week's assemblies probably will not amount to half the 145,832 units produced in the same week of 1960.

Production this week dropped to 91,378 cars as Ford closed 11 of 16 assembly plants, affecting 17,000 workers. This week's total compared with 91,378 last week but was 34 per cent below the same week a year ago.

Other shutdowns will involve 23,000 workers at the home plants of Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac in Flint, Lansing and Pontiac, Mich.

Also ordered home were 12,000 workers at Chevrolet plants in St. Louis, Janesville, Wis., Cleveland and Flint.

Fisher body division of GM will idle about 10,000 at plants in Janesville, St. Louis, Flint, Lansing and Pontiac. Another 2,600 men will be sent home at the spark plug division plant in Flint.

Ford layoffs next week include 3,300 in Chicago, St. Paul and San Jose, Calif., 3,900 in Cleveland, 5,300 in Dearborn, Mich., and 900 in Green Island, N.Y., and Sheffield, Ala.

Chrysler will send home 6,500 workers at three Detroit area plants and another 5,000 at plants in St. Louis, Newark, Del., and Los Angeles.

GM will lay off 10,800 at six Buick, Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plants in Arlington, Tex., Atlanta, Ga., Linden, N.J., Wilmington, Del., Southgate, Calif., and Kansas City, Kan.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Business Brisk, Prices Gaining

There was no sign of a letup today in the recent steady gains made on stock exchanges in both Canada and the U.S.

Base metals were particularly strong while on Wall Street selected issues were featured as an assortment of stocks was traded in big blocks, some of it down slightly on profit-taking.

Panel Asking Why Housing Sales Decline

VANCOUVER (CP)—A selected group of architects, mortgage men, realtors, forest industry officials and house-builders is attempting to find an answer to the slow rate of new home sales in British Columbia.

The experts feel gimmicks and gadgets are being substituted for sound design by many B.C. housebuilders. Architects, governments and housebuilders came under sharp criticism when the group met here.

Housebuilders were warned that in the present buyers' market they must face competition from consumer products. New homes have to be made more desirable than new cars, stereo sets and holidays abroad.

The panel was headed by moderator J.E. Dudley, a leading Vancouver architect and chairman of the housing committee of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

Not enough attention is being paid to good design of smaller homes, the panel said. Instead, builders are using gimmicks and gadgets to make homes saleable.

The panelists pointed to a number of major ills afflicting the industry.

The federal government did not escape criticism. It and previous governments were accused of using housing as a political football to regulate the economy.

This, said the 10 panelists, has made the industry unstable, created a series of unsmooth marginal operators in boom times and made it tough to trim off the fat in leaner times.

Bob Harrison, chairman of the Vancouver chapter of the Architects Institute, claimed that Canada is not "getting down to the problem of designing houses for all levels of society."

Professor Phillip White of the University of B.C. said it is harder to buy houses, especially older houses, in Canada than in either the United States or Britain.

He said many people who were better able to afford an older home were forced into new property because of lower NHA down payments.

Plywood, Veneer Production Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Production and shipment of veneer and plywood fell sharply in January from year-earlier levels. Veneer shipments were down more than 14,000,000 square feet at 45,729,000 square feet. Plywood shipments were off 11,000,000 at 114,028,000 square feet.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians smoked a record number of cigars and cigarettes in 1960, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Basing its figures on government sale of excise stamps, the bureau said 34,289,354,000 cigarettes were sold last year, up 1.4 per cent from the previous record of 33,822,125,000 in 1959.

Cigar consumption hit 332,324,000 up 6.8 per cent from 1959 and 2.8 per cent above the previous record set in 1958.

Sale of snuff dropped 5.8 per cent to 872,000 pounds; plug tobacco was off 5.9 per cent at 1,130,000 pounds. Roll-your-own tobacco was about the same as 1959 at sales of 21,986,000 pounds.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade was moderately active today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as export interest appeared slow.

Most operations were carried out in the flax and rye markets. Flax showed a firm undertone with occasional irregularity caused by fluctuations in Chicago soybean quotations.

The rye market displayed some activity on purchases made by United States interests. Prices showed a firm tone.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 570,000 bushels; Japan 515,000; Russia 330,000, and Belgium 115,000.

Lakhead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all 1/2 higher with the exception of 1 Northern which was 1/4 higher from Friday.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keate

The appearance in town today of Mr. R. McC. Samples, DSO, head of the United Kingdom Information Service in Canada, reminds us of a strange but little-recognized fact: in addition to all their other virtues, the British are expert salesmen.

Down through the centuries they have demonstrated a proud and positive talent for reticence. In recent years, however, they have evinced a willingness to talk about their nation—and they are doing so surpassingly well.

A few weeks ago they sent us a magazine called "Viewpoint," elegantly written and illustrated and as far removed from propaganda as it is possible to imagine. Now, for the twelfth year in a row, they have published a fact book called "Britain, An Official Handbook," which conveys a fascinating picture of the manners and mores of our cousins across the seas.

A random sampling of this invaluable reference work reveals among other things:

That a quarter of all homes have a caged bird, slightly over a fifth have a cat, and slightly under a fifth a dog; there are probably some four million dogs in Britain, over six million cats, and eight or nine million pet birds, mainly budgerigars.

Britons smoke only three million cigars a year. Twelve per cent of those who smoke cigarettes prefer filter-tips.

About five million persons go dancing every week.

Nineteen million Britons garden in their spare time.

There are 8,500 Women's Institutes in England and Wales, which means that someone is doing an awful lot of after-luncheon speaking.

The 1961 population of the United Kingdom is about 53 million. Density of population is in excess of 552 persons per square mile. (On Vancouver Island, it is 21 per square mile.)

The average family size is 2.2 persons, as against Canada's 3.7.

There is no longer a surplus of women at the usual ages of marriage.

Although one-third of all married women in the U.K. have paid jobs, their life as home-makers is easier. Two houses out of three have vacuum cleaners; one in three a washing machine and one in eight a refrigerator. Two out of three homes have a TV set.

Average work-week is 42 to 46 hours. Collective agreements between employers' associations and trades unions are not civil contracts, enforceable in law. Time lost in strikes over the past 20 years has been one-tenth of a day per worker per year.

In the early 30s, when times were tough all over, there were 706,800 resident domestic servants in England and Wales. By 1951 this figure had dwindled to 178,000, most of them from Ireland or continental Europe.

At least a quarter of the adult population play or watch sport. Seventy-five per cent bet occasionally on football pools and racing.

There are 3,500 cinemas and 500 theatres in Britain.

Mr. Average Briton consumes about three pounds of bread and 7½ ounces of sweets and chocolates each week.

The average output of toys per child is $14 a year.

Britons produce 421 million gallons of soft drinks annually—or approximately eight gallons per person.

Some 2,000 different varieties of building bricks are produced at the 800 works in Britain.

Sir Alan Herbert, commenting on "the boom of the boat," notes that more than 1,000 pleasure boats are using the Thames River each year.

And do Britons love their newspapers? The U.S., with a population of 180 millions, has two newspapers with more than a million circulation. London has six, including the Mirror (4,565,327) and the Express, published by Canada's Lord Beaverbrook (4,142,856).

FIVE-DAY SPECTACLE ENVISAGED AT MEMORIAL ARENA

International Horse Show Proposed for Centenary

Plans are under way to stage "the biggest international horse show ever" in Victoria as a feature of centennial year celebrations in 1962.

Still in the embryonic stage, the plans are ambitious, with the focal point being Memorial Arena.

DRUNK COAXED FROM SEA BY WOMEN

A man coaxed out of the sea by two women in Sunday afternoon's storm, was fined $20 in city police court today for being in a state of intoxication.

Mrs. G. M. Lane, and her daughter, of 522 Frances, saw the man in the water at Horseshoe Bay off Dallas Road. They waded out to him and helped him to the shore.

He told police he was wading out to sea in search of a friend.

This year's Easter Seals campaign started during the weekend with the mailing of 50,000 packets of seals to householders in the Greater Victoria area.

The month-long drive is an annual event sponsored by Lions Clubs in the district. Organizers hope to raise $15,000 here. Goal for the province is $100,000.

Proceeds go towards helping crippled children.

Stanford Invites City Professor

Leon Bowden of the Victoria College mathematics department, has accepted an invitation from Stanford University to teach there as a visiting professor.

He holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of London and a B. Litt. from Oxford.

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Victoria Unit, American Contract Bridge League, were as follows:

First, Phil Hagel and Eric Goodwin; second, Velma Jones and James Duprau; third, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Maynard.

Times columnist Robertson Davies was described as a "rebel" against conventions by Professor C. S. Burdill in a recent address to the Victoria branch, Canadian Authors' Association.

The Royal Roads teacher of history and economics said Davies consistently attacked "sacred cows," was both a satirist and cynic, yet possessed of kindly understanding of human frailties.

He also reviewed three of Davies' recent books.

PICK, HAMMER ATTACK FAILS TO CRACK SAFE

Thieves over the weekend failed to crack open an office safe following a break-in at Home Furniture Store, 825 Fort Street, city police reported today.

They pried open the outside door of the safe with a pick and 10-pound hammer, but couldn't break open the safe's inner door.

Ship Imperilled As Lines Snap

Rough 'Crossfire' When Wind Changes

By MONTE ROBERTS

A British freighter moored at Ogden Point was in grave danger of smashing herself against the concrete dock when four mooring lines broke during the height of Sunday afternoon's gale.

The 10,000 ton Ss. Frumenton was moored at South "B," ready to resume loading lumber today, when a shift in the wind hauled around to west southwest, pouring directly into the area between piers "A" and "B" and setting up heavy cross-seas.

The freighter, surging against her mooring lines, snapped them faster than they could be replaced.

Before the shift in the wind, she had been riding fairly easily to her moorings, although all lines had been doubled up as a precautionary measure.

The ship's bow surged up and down in 14-foot lunges, missing the concrete abutment at the end of the dock by scant feet. Both anchors were lowered to control the ship.

Knowing it might be necessary to try to move the freighter to sea, the captain ordered a wireless message sent to the department of transport station at Gordon Head, requesting tugs to stand by and a coastal pilot to come aboard.

The message was passed by telephone to B.C. Pilotage office on Dallas Road, only a few hundred yards from the ship.

BY DERRICK

Request for aid was answered by two harbor towboats from Island Tug and Barge Ltd., and by Capt. Jack Wigham of B.C. Pilotage. Capt. Wigham was hoisted aboard by derrick, as the companion-way could not be used.

The ship's struggle against her mooring lines continued for more than two hours, gradually easing off as the winds died down after dark.

A second freighter, Ss. Havkatt, anchored in Royal Roads during the day rather than to attempt to dock in the gale. She came into berth this morning.

RUBBLE MARKS the wind's victory over a newly erected concrete block wall which was demolished Sunday about 11:30 a.m. Strong gust knocked over the 175 length of seven-foot-high wall on the Esquimalt sports arena site. Although spectacular, damage was estimated only about $1,000. It is covered by insurance.

CAR CRUSHED

Fir Trees 'On Target' Once Again

Lightning may never strike the same place twice but trees do.

Dr. Jack Morrison, of 3530 Cardiff Place near the Uplands Golf Club, ruefully chalked up another damage report by trees today.

Sunday's storm dropped a tall fir on his 1957 car—crushing the roof down into the seats.

BLACK SUNDAY

One month ago—also on a Sunday—high winds slammed two other evergreen trees across the roof of his new house.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,000-$1,200.

"The car was parked in the driveway. About 10:30 a.m. we heard a terrific crash—there was the tree on top of the car," Dr. Morrison said.

Damage is covered by insurance.

"And just a month ago, the trees fell on our house. But that time there wasn't too much damage—some cracked plaster and broken gutters."

Dr. Morrison said the fallen trees came from an adjoining property.

Asked what his first thoughts were when he saw his tree-crushed car, he replied: "Unprintable."

Funeral services for Iden Ernest Rogers, former Royal Marine who died in St. Joseph's Sunday, will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in Thomson and Irving chapel.

He was 88.

Born in Ticehurst, Sussex, he served in the Royal Marines from 1894-96, came to Canada in 1907 and homesteaded in Saskatchewan, coming to Victoria 42 years ago.

For years he drove a jitney from the city to Cordova Bay and had a meat stall for 11 years in the public market.

He was an active member of Stevenson Memorial Church.

Survivors include the widow, Lily, at home, 1869 San Pedro; one son, Clifford of Victoria, and two daughters, Elsie in Vancouver and Florence in Toronto.

Willows fair grounds before it was given over to residential subdivision.

That show was considered an outstanding success, with many entries from the U.S. and Canadian mainland, but, according to Mr. Carley, "The Centennial show would be much bigger with our plans to stage it in the Memorial Arena where the spectators would be right on top of the action and there would be no worries about weather."

New Justice Welcomed By Lawyers

Mr. Justice Robert Wootton, recently appointed Victoria's only resident Supreme Court judge, was welcomed today by 80 members of the Victoria Bar Association in a 10:30 a.m. ceremony in the courthouse here.

The gathering was held before Mr. Justice Wootton's first appearance on the bench since his appointment.

He was welcomed by the president of the association, John McIntosh, W. H. D. Haldane, QC, and J. Alan Baker, QC.

MR. PRESIDENT

Mr. McIntosh recalled that over the years he had addressed His Lordship as "Mr. President," when he was president of the Victoria Bar Association, as "Mr. Vice-President" when he held that position with the Canadian Bar Association, and as "Mr. Benchman" when he was a member of the Law Society of B.C.

It would now be "My Lord," and "Mr. Justice."

On behalf of the association he expressed "best wishes from each and every one of us."

His sentiments were echoed by the other speakers.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Would you please inform me what the letters "HMTS" which prefixed the cable-laying vessel Monarch's name in a recent newspaper, stand for? E.J.C.

A. The navy reports the use must have been in error as all British naval cable laying ships are auxiliary vessels, manned by civilians, and are therefore not entitled to use the HMT prefix.

Q. How did Carman, Man, get its name? P.F.

A. It was named in 1880 after Rev. Albert Carman, then a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily. ## PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keate

The appearance in town today of Mr. R. McC. Samples, DSO, head of the United Kingdom information service in Canada, reminds us of a strange but little-recognized fact: in addition to all their other virtues, the British are expert salesmen.

Down through the centuries they have demonstrated a proud and positive talent for reticence. In recent years, however, they have evinced a willingness to talk about their nation—and they are doing so surpassingly well.

A few weeks ago they sent us a magazine called "Viewpoint," elegantly written and illustrated and as far removed from propaganda as it is possible to imagine. Now, for the twelfth year in a row, they have published a fact book called "Britain, An Official Handbook," which conveys a fascinating picture of the manners and mores of our cousins across the seas.

A random sampling of this invaluable reference work reveals among other things:

That a quarter of all homes have a caged bird, slightly over a fifth have a cat, and slightly under a fifth a dog; there are probably some four million dogs in Britain, over six million cats, and eight or nine million pet birds, mainly budgerigars.

Britons smoke only three million cigars a year. Twelve per cent of those who smoke cigarettes prefer filter-tips. About five million persons go dancing every week.

Nineteen million Britons garden in their spare time. There are 8,500 Women's Institutes in England and Wales, which means that someone is doing an awful lot of after-luncheon speaking.

The 1961 population of the United Kingdom is about 53 million. Density of population is in excess of 562 persons per square mile. (On Vancouver Island, it is 21 per square mile.)

The average family size is 2.2 persons, as against Canada's 3.7.

There is no longer a surplus of women at the usual ages of marriage.

Although one-third of all married women in the U.K. have paid jobs, their life as home-makers is easier. Two houses out of three have vacuum cleaners; one in three a washing machine and one in eight a refrigerator. Two out of three homes have a TV set.

Average work-week is 42 to 46 hours. Collective agreements between employers' associations and trades unions are not civil contracts, enforceable in law. Time lost in strikes over the past 20 years has been one-tenth of a day per worker per year.

In the early 30s, when times were tough all over, there were 706,800 resident domestic servants in England and Wales. By 1951 this figure had dwindled to 178,000, most of them from Ireland or continental Europe.

At least a quarter of the adult population play or watch sport. Seventy-five per cent bet occasionally on football pools and racing.

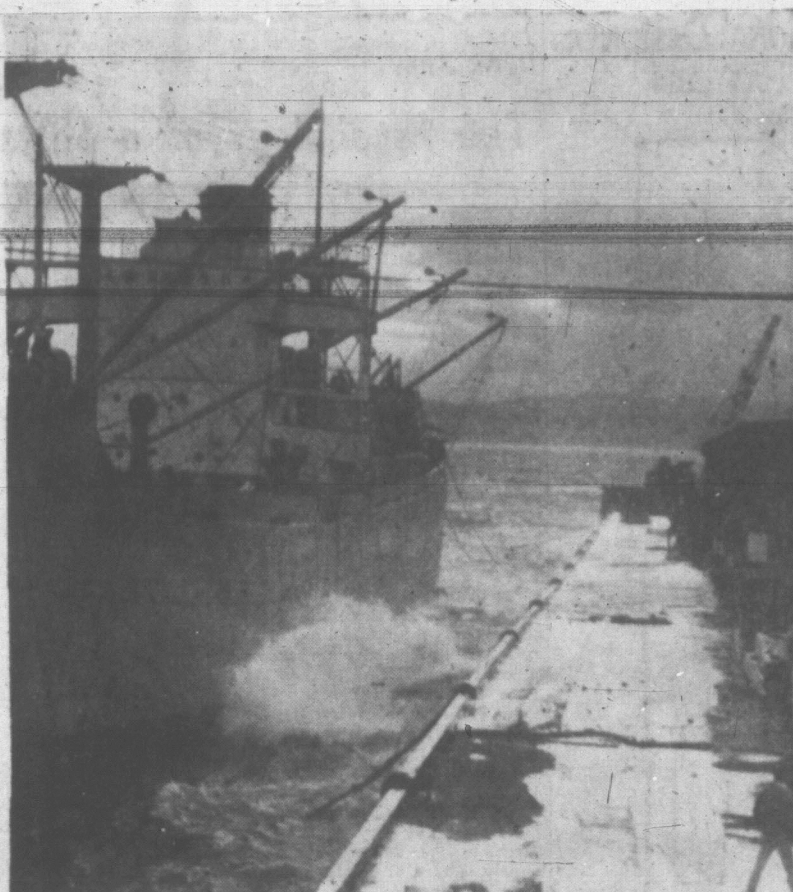

There are 3,500 cinemas and 500 theatres in Britain. Mr. Average Briton consumes about three pounds of bread and 7½ ounces of sweets and chocolates each week.

The average output of toys per child is $14 a year. Britons produce 421 million gallons of soft drinks annually—or approximately eight gallons per person.

Some 2,000 different varieties of building bricks are produced at the 800 works in Britain.

Sir Alan Herbert, commenting on "the boom of the boat," notes that more than 1,000 pleasure boats are using the Thames River each year.

It is understood the contract will be awarded in 30 days.

"A show of the magnitude I know we can stage would attract large numbers of Americans as well as people from all parts of Canada, and would give Victoria something different in its birthday year," Mr. Carley said.

He has started correspondence with various organizations in the south regarding participation and has made contact with a local service club on possible sponsorship.

It is possible two international jumping teams would take part in exhibitions during the week-long show. And entries in competitive events already have been assured from California, Oregon and Washington and the B.C. mainland.

"I am positive there would be entries from other parts of the United States and Canada after word gets out," Mr. Carley said.

Information on the availability of a "big name" professional horse act from Hollywood is being sought as an attraction for the show.

Early planning is important for such an event, Mr. Carley said, and co-operation from many different Greater Victoria organizations will be needed "to get it over."

He has made preliminary contact with the city's Centennial Advisory Committee on the plans, and the chairman, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, himself a keen horseman, is "right behind us, and agrees a show of this kind would be just right" for the birthday year.

The last international horse show here was in 1948 under Kiwanis Club sponsorship—the last show staged at the old

Willows fair grounds before it was given over to residential subdivision.

That show was considered an outstanding success, with many entries from the U.S. and Canadian mainland, but, according to Mr. Carley, "The Centennial show would be much bigger with our plans to stage it in the Memorial Arena where the spectators would be right on top of the action and there would be no worries about weather."

Another Blow Coming Tonight

Wall Smashed, BCE Lines Tangled, Ship Breaks Loose in Sunday Gale

By JOHN MIKA

Southern Vancouver Island was stunned Sunday by a furious windstorm that battered the coast with a right cross-left hook combination.

Wind gusts hit up to 74 miles per hour from the south-east during the morning and up to 71 mph from the south-west in the afternoon.

As the weather office predicted a second furious round was coming up, residents and officials reported:

- The "worst" trouble-plagued period in 10 years for B.C. Electric repair crews;
- Some 300 trouble calls being cleaned up by B.C. Telephone Company workmen after five trunk cables were restored to service;
- A 175-foot-long concrete block wall smashed by a powerful gust;
- Beachcombing banned at Cadboro Bay where about 400 logs piled up after breaking away from a log boom;
- A 10,000-ton freighter narrowly missed smashing into the Ogden Point docks as heavy seas broke all its mooring lines;
- A tree squashed a vacant car and others, toppled over on to a house roof;
- Barricades were used to block off the Ross Bay stretch of Dallas Road as tons of water vaulted the sea wall to flood the pavement.

Another Storm Expected Tonight

"We're between storms today," said weatherman William Mackie. "The next storm will be much the same with the winds starting to rise tonight."

He predicted southeast winds averaging 35 to 40 m.p.h. and gusting overnight and Tuesday morning followed by southwest winds averaging 40 to 45 m.p.h. in the afternoon.

A B.C. Electric official said Sunday was the worst experienced by the company in 10 years.

Trouble calls began pouring in at 9 a.m. from the Cordova Bay, Gordon Head, Albert Head, Telegraph Bay and Prospect Lake areas and city points too.

All available men were sent out. Most problems were solved by 4 p.m. when the wind shifted and a second onslaught hit power wires.

Relentless Assault by a Sea of Fury

Wild grandeur of froth-whipped waves cascading over the Dallas Road seawall Sunday was beautiful but dangerous. Tons of water flooded Ross Bay portion of the road during the strong gale and police erected barricades to divert traffic over safer routes. Clover Point, from which this photo was taken, was jammed with traffic during the afternoon as motorists went sightseeing.

Malaya Blasts S. Africa

LONDON (CP) — Commonwealth leaders blasted South Africa's racial segregation policy today as the prime ministers' conference entered its most critical phase.

Conference sources said Malayan Prime Minister Prince Abdul Rahman made a vehement condemnation of apartheid in a discussion of South Africa's application to remain a member of the Commonwealth when it becomes a republic May 31.

Canada, Pakistan, India, Ceylon, Ghana, Malaya and Nigeria also joined in the criticism of the South African government policy, the sources said.

The discussion came after the prime ministers had admitted Cyprus as the 13th member of the Commonwealth. A message was sent immediately to Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios inviting him to fly to London to join the talks.

READ STATEMENT

Conference sources said Rahman read a 15-page statement in condemning apartheid. He told the meeting that the Commonwealth must be based on common ideas and principles which include respect for human rights and rule out racial discrimination.

The debate is expected to continue Tuesday, giving Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd time to reply in detail to the charges against South Africa.

Wild Congolese Make Nuns Strip

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — Nuns were stripped and one American missionary girl was raped by Congolese soldiers on the rampage in the rebel province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

UN Malayan patrols are pushing out from Kindu, trying to reach isolated villages where whites are at the mercy of the Congolese soldiers.

"We've got to reach all these people," said a UN official. "We have reason to believe that in many cases it is a matter of life or death."

Six Belgians and four other whites, believed to be Portuguese, were flown here from Kivu Sunday. All were badly beaten, the UN spokesman said. They told of daily beatings in the streets, pillaging and threats of execution.

One report said an American missionary girl was beaten and raped by four Congolese soldiers and told she will not be allowed to leave Kivu.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Sales

VANCOUVER — Closing sales: Torwest 15,000 at 66, Trojan 19,000 at 12½, Friday Nickel 3,000 at 19½, Sheep Creek 5,000 at 95, Fargo 500 at $3.50, Utica 5,000 at 39, Canam Copper 1,000 at 22½, Taylor Bridge 1,000 at 27.

A nun-reaching Kindu from a mission station at Kasongo told of 48 hours of terror, rape and bestiality soon after the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba last month. The nun said nine sisters from the mission were bundled into trucks and carted off to the local jail.

A 75-year-old nun said she was thrown out of the truck and had her arms broken and her shoulder dislocated. She has reached Leopoldville.

In a prison courtyard, the nuns were made to dance barefoot on stones and gravel, singing hymns to Lumumba. Then they were locked up in a room for the night with three Congolese soldiers. They were made to lie on the ground and strip off their clothes.

"They did not rape us but they did things so disgusting to our poor bodies that we dare not speak of them, much less write of them," one nun said.

Two other white women also were at the same prison and throughout the night their cries could be heard by the nuns.

A priest identified as Father Gerry of the White Fathers was beaten from 5 p.m. until 2 o'clock the next morning. The next morning the nuns were freed and allowed back to their mission stations.

2 Others Saved On Mt. Brenton

A 19-year-old Rover Scout died Saturday night in a blizzard on the slopes of Mount Brenton, near Chemainus, while rescue teams in a warm shelter less than one-half mile away prepared to search for him.

Dead is Donald Anderson, 19, of Saltair, near Ladysmith, one of a three-man party which planned to spend the day in a hike to Silver Lake, near Mount Brenton.

In Chemainus General Hospital is David Thomas, 20, Chemainus, reported in poor condition today as a result of severe exposure and frostbitten feet.

Third member of the party, Robert McGregor, 18, suffered no ill effects from his ordeal.

Irony twist to the tragedy is that the outing was being taken as part of McGregor's qualification as a Rover Scout. The other two men already were Rovers, and his sponsors on the trip.

Ski Club Members Win Praise

Sole credit for the rescue effort, conducted over a 24-hour period in winds that blew constantly at from 40 to 50 miles per hour, went to Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club, which has a lodge on Mount Brenton.

"The Sno-Birds were everywhere and did everything," said Cpl. M. G. Low of Chemainus RCMP detachment. The ill-fated venture started Saturday when the three set off on the trip by which McGregor would prove himself as a Rover. Their equipment was reported as good, but they had only two pairs of snowshoes between the three of them, and snow proved deep with no crust.

By Saturday afternoon they ran into the full force of a blinding blizzard, which dumped 4½ feet of snow on the area, dropped temperatures below freezing, and stung them with 50-mile winds.

McGregor said after the rescue that when the temperature dropped they decided to try for the Sno-Birds lodge about three miles away. They all knew it well from their experience on previous hikes, he said.

"Dave was without snowshoes, so Don decided to try for the lodge himself. After he left us Dave and I continued on. The snow was so deep Dave couldn't continue, so he decided to build a shelter while I went after Don."

'The Wind Was Just Murder'

"When I found him he was tired. I decided to go ahead at a fast rate to get to the lodge before nightfall. He said 'Okay' and agreed to follow at his own speed. The wind was just murder with gusts up to 65 miles an hour."

"One of his snowshoes had fallen off when they found him just 300 yards below the lodge. He had fallen asleep. I told him not to. I warned him to keep moving."

"If he had just looked up, he would have seen the lodge lights and he could have called for help."

"Rescuers attempted to revive him, but couldn't. 'I felt just terrible.'"

First the 25 Sno-Birds at the lodge for the weekend knew of the tragedy was when McGregor arrived there exhausted at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

Anton "Toni" Lamprecht, 35, of 5003 Prospect Lake Road, who grew up in Austria and has lived here nine years, said it was 30 minutes before McGregor was able to tell them what had happened.

"He was exhausted and delirious," he said. "Finally he was able to explain to me where Anderson was, and that there was a third man on the trail too."

"When we knew where to go, Manfred Schil, Tony

The wire, addressed to Trail Mayor L. A. Read, said:

"Heartiest congratulations from the people of Greater Victoria on the splendid victory of the Trail hockey team."

It was signed by Mayor Percy Seaurah, Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

More than 300 fans Sunday afternoon held a special meeting in Trail to prepare a jubilant welcome home for their team.

The Smoke Eaters downed Russia 5-1 in Geneva to take the title, the second time Trail has won the international hockey title.

Among the first acts of a special committee formed to set welcome plans in motion was to invite Premier W. A. C. Bennett to officially welcome the Smoke Eaters.

Meanwhile, the committee also asked general manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens to apologize for remarks made a week ago on a television program that Trail had no chance whatsoever of winning the world title.
